Germans Start Great Counter-Offensive on Somme As the Climax of Three Days' Bombardment, Making Big Gains

Russians Make Serious Attacks to the Southeast of Lemberg, But Teuton War Office Says That All Assaults Failed

BUCHAREST, via London, Nov. 15.—From the border of Western Moldavia to the Slavic Valley in Transylvania, the Austro-German forces are being pursued beyond the frontier by the Rumanian troops, according to announcement by the Rumanian war office today.

Occupation by the Rumanians of the town of Boasie, in Dobruja, is announced today by the war office. Airmen, the official statement reports, dropped bombs over the palace in Bucharest. The queen and the princess, however, were not in the structure, having left after the death of Prince Mircea.

In the Slavic Valley the Rumanians have been forced back to their second line trenches as the result of continued violent Teutonic attacks, the statement adds, and the Rumanians also have been obliged to yield some ground in the Alt Valley.

PARIS, Nov. 15.—An important German counter-offensive began at 6 o'clock this morning against French positions south of the Somme between Abbeville and Chaulnes Woods, after three days of intense bombardment. The German attack was supported by the war office announcement, using burning liquid. The official announcement says the Germans were repulsed everywhere excepting east of Presnoire, where they reached a group of ruined houses.

BERLIN, Nov. 15.—North of the Ancre River the British attacked ceaselessly yesterday with strong forces. Today's official report says the British captured the village of Beaucourt, but that everywhere else their violent assaults broke down with heavy losses.

PETROGRAD, Nov. 15.—Russian troops on the River Narva in the region of the helms to the east of Lipnitskaya in Galicia, yesterday assumed the offensive and forced the Austro-German troops from the positions which they had occupied on both sides of the road leading to the village of Slavonits, according to the Russian official statement issued today.

BERLIN, Nov. 15.—The invasion of Rumania is being carried on successfully by the Austrians and Germans, the war office announced. The German troops are reported to have entered Wallachia (southwestern Rumania) yesterday, terminated successfully for the Teutonic forces, who took more than 1800 prisoners.

BERLIN, Nov. 15.—Serious Russian attacks were made yesterday on the front southeast of Lemberg along the Narayuvka river. The war office announces that all the Russian assaults were repulsed.

Smokes in Bed; Luxury Costly

Sparks Smoulder and Flames Arise

Hereafter William Sherwood, son of Mr. and Mrs. Willard G. Sherwood, of 1825 Thirty-eighth avenue, will not indulge in the luxury of lying comfortably stretched on a bed while smoking. While he was engaged in this pastime yesterday evening sparks from his cigar fell unnoticed and smoldered in the mattress. An hour after he left the house his neighbors saw smoke issuing from the windows. The fire department was summoned and the blaze was extinguished with a loss of $30.

PARLIAMENT FACES 'HIGH COST' QUERY

Resolution Demands Government Shall Keep Down Food Prices.

LONDON, Nov. 15.—The price of food, which has become such a serious matter in England as in all other belligerent countries, was discussed in the House of Commons today. William E. Howling, Unionist member from Hereford, introduced the following resolution: In the opinion of the House it is duty of the government to adopt further methods of organization to increase and conserve the national food supply and to diminish the risk of shortage and serious increase of prices in the event of the war being prolonged. The debate on this resolution was expected to result in drastic proposals to deal with the difficulties of the present position. To activities of German submarines in sinking large numbers of ships, which is related so closely to the price of food, will be discussed in the House of Commons this evening by Lord Charles Bessborough and Baron Sydenham.

Scientists Unearth Old Egyptian Relics

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 15.—Stone implements and household tools, estimated to be 4,000 years old, forming part of a collection owned by Morenoph, son and successor of Ramses the Great, 1,300 years before Christ, have been unearthed in the prehistoric monarch's palace at Memphis, ancient capital of Egypt. Advances have reached the University Museum here from Dr. Clarence S. Fisher, leader of the Eckley B. Cox, Jr., expedition of Egypt. In a full report, Dr. Fisher describes wandering through the spacious halls of the great palace for centuries lay buried in ancient Memphis. Gold ornaments, scarabs, vessels of various kinds and vases were found intact, just as they must have been when the lords of those days departed.

Telegraphic Tabloids

SANTA ROSA.—Three years ago Jack London let a friend dine at a dinner party. The friend would not be re-elected and offered to let the friend invite as many as he wished. Now London is afraid to go to New York for fear of having to dine several hundred.

CLEVELAND, O.—Robert Hastings, suffering from amnesia, wandered from his home. He found his memory and himself fighting in France, a letter from the Somme front says.

SANDUSKY, O.—The going to be a hard winter on the knights of the road. Just plain, ordinary hoboes will not be admitted to the Erie county jail. It costs too much to feed them.

CHICAGO.—The bold robber who forced Mrs. Scholik to remove her stockings and waist in his search for valuables, fled when she started to cry.

CHICAGO.—You'll hear from me again soon, James T. Horace said to his wife on the phone, and took poison in the telephone booth.

SAN DIEGO.—Hughes and Wilson on the city rooftop. This couple, who had caused no small amount of merriment when the rockpile gang went forth early to day. Both are in for vagrancy for five days. Hughes has many whiskers and is quite morose and sullen. Wilson is a regular Sunny Jim, and says "I should worry."

LIVING COST IS LAID TO JOBBER

President Wilson Blames Middleman in Address Before Grange.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—President Wilson blamed middlemen for the high cost of foodstuffs here last night in a speech welcoming to Washington the convention of the National Grange, the first formal speech he has delivered since the election. Urging that farmers increase their output, the President said: We ought to raise such big crops that circumstances like the present can never recur, when men can act as if the supply was so short that the middleman could charge for it what he pleased. It will not do to lie negligently with the rest of the world in respect to its food supply. The President did not mention recent petitions to him to declare an embargo on exportation of foodstuffs from the United States to the rest of the world, and he did not refer even indirectly to the outcome of the Presidential election. The address was interrupted frequently by applause from the farmers attending the fiftieth anniversary celebration of the founding of the Grange. Continuing, the President said:

It seems to me that some of the most interesting problems of our life and of the life of the world lie before us, problems in connection with which the farmers of the United States will play a part such as they have never played before.

In the future we have got to bring more of the area of the United States under cultivation than we have now. We have got to increase the product at every point where it is susceptible of being increased. It is astonishing that the assets, the valuable assets, of the visible assets of the farm should not have been available as a basis of credit in the banks on the same terms as the assets of commercial undertaking and manufacturing industry.

Women's Court Is Planned in S. F.

Excludes All Men, But Bench and Bar

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 15.—A woman's police court, which will be distinctly taboored, and where one of the women protective officers of the department will act as bailiff, is the latest innovation of the San Francisco Police Department. The four police magistrates, after determining on a night court, followed up their plans for improving the hearing of criminal cases by setting aside one hour each evening when the women in secret and away from the prying eyes of men, may settle their troubles and obtain justice. Hair pulling matches and face scratching matches between women, cases of shop lifting and petty larceny, and even the more serious crimes involving homicide, will all be heard in the women's court. It will assemble each morning at 9 o'clock.

With the exception of representatives of the court, the magistrate himself and the attorneys, the lobby will be composed of women only. The greatest possible consideration for the defendants will be shown.

Von Walden Must Face Trial, Ordered

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 15.—The colorful figure of the alleged robber and assassin of Edward Von Walden, youthful robber in broad daylight held up the Mission branch of the American Trust Company, have evidently disappeared into thin air. Von Walden was before Superior Judge Caban's today for trial. He had obtained continuances on previous appearances by claiming that his mother was en route with a Boston surgeon of note and that his father was assembling insanity experts to examine him and that all the Von Walden coffers would yield up coin in his defense. Today there was a new excuse ready. The defendant declared that his attorney, F. F. Hahn, was hurrying east to obtain valuable testimony from a witness, however, to listen further and told Von Walden that he would have to be ready to proceed December 11.

Cruelty Is Alleged in Suit; Divorce Won

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 15.—Mrs. Laura C. Deering, wife of George A. Deering, president of Deering Brothers company, shoe merchants with stores all over the city, was granted a divorce decree by Judge Van Ness today after she had testified to numerous episodes in which she had suffered physical harm at the hands of her spouse. Three weeks after their marriage, she testified, she was dancing with a young man at a party and that her husband became so jealous that he struck her and that recently in a party at their own home she says he called her names and publicly humiliated her. The couple separated only last month. Mrs. Deering was allowed substantial alimony.

Mother Who Kidnaped Own Son, Released

Mrs. Thomas Duncan, who was arrested last night in San Francisco at the request of the Oakland police on the charge of kidnapping her own son from the Melrose Heights school last week, was released from custody this morning, and there will be no prosecution of the case. Mrs. Mary Kreck, 5133 Foothill boulevard, requested the arrest, declaring that she was the legal guardian and custodian of her 12-year-old son, a fit person, the boy's mother was not a fit person to care for him. She is the grandmother of the boy, and has given him her own name.

Quarterly Visits of Burglar Probed

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 15.—Mortenson Gardner, a notary in the Mills building, requested the local police today to solve the mystery of a quarterly visitation to her Mill Valley home by a burglar who takes one piece of jewelry on each appearance, leaving other valuables behind. The latest theft today was a bracelet. On the other visitations were taken respectively a bar pin, a ring and a laveller.

CO-OPERATION OF FACTORIES URGED

Expert Is Heard Before Committee; Tells of Trade Extension.

Speaking upon industrial preparedness and urging the co-operation of manufacturing interests toward that end, Dr. Kurt T. Friedlander, industrial expert of the bureau of salesmanship research of the Grange, Institute at Pittsburgh, addressed members of the Manufacturers Committee at their weekly luncheon in the Hotel Oakland today. Dr. Friedlander said:

The active and wholesale competition of American manufacturers fosters the tendency to decrease the cost of production chiefly by reducing the more and more growing overhead expenses. Nowadays the method of production, the generating power, the design of the plant and other factors, are standardized to such an extent that little advantage over the competition is possible. One big factor, however, is generally overlooked, which is of the greatest importance for each firm, and that is the advantage possible through the efficient system of selecting, training and handling employees in all positions.

The work of the bureau of salesmanship research, founded to develop methods leading to a solution of important problems, and headed by Prof. Walter Dill Scott, is threefold, first, to find the man best suited to fill an existing vacancy, weeding out those unfit by a series of psychological tests which determine mental and specific abilities. Then the business leader is advised as to how to use these men in the most efficient manner. The third work is the research into sales organization to find the most efficient methods of organizing sales forces, whether small, or big forces of employees.

The work of the bureau is being financed by big concerns like Ford, Chalmers, Equitable Life Insurance, Mutual Life, Heinz, Burroughs, General Electric, Carnegie Steel and others of the same class.

Belgian Relief Work Threatened

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—Fear was expressed in Washington today that the relief of destitute Belgium by America may be seriously interfered with, perhaps actually brought to an end.

The fear grew out of the admission that deporting Belgians into Germany had reached such a scale that the State Department was taking the matter up with the German government. The German policy, it is understood, has been to declare destitute any able-bodied Belgians who accept relief, and to send them to work to relieve the strain on public charity. This course, officials here believe today, may result in England and France asking that the Belgians be sent to work stop, since it apparently plays into the hands of the German government.

Charge Grew at Berlin has been directed to take the matter up personally with Chancellor Von Bethmann-Hollweg, telling the latter that deportations of the Belgians were certain to affect neutral opinion. Grew had refused to be related to the effect of discussions of the subject with Under Secretary for Foreign Affairs Zimmermann. The latter is said to have told Grew that so many Belgians have been sent to work that policy of compelling them to work had been adopted.

Rowanna Case to Be Explained to U. S.

BERLIN, Nov. 15.—The admiralty today transmitted to the foreign office the report of the submarine messenger ship, the German ship, Rowanna, on October 25, 15 miles off Cape Clear. The foreign office will issue soon an official explanation of the matter to Secretary Grew of the American embassy at Berlin. Contrary to reports from America and England, there is no excitement and only unconcern here over American inquiries regarding recent sinkings of merchant ships, because everyone here is convinced that U-boat commanders are not violating their instructions.

Cumming Will Is Admitted to Probate

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 15.—Superior Judge Coffey today admitted to probate the will of George M. Cumming, civil engineer for the Southern Pacific, graduate of the University of California, and one of the leaders of his profession, who committed suicide October 23 at a down town hotel. Cumming, who was a brother of Frank Cumming, secretary of the Panama Pacific Exposition, left all his property, consisting of considerable money in the bank, to his widow, Mrs. Elizabeth Cumming, 3633 Sixteenth street, who is the administratrix. Mrs. Cumming is a daughter of the late Robert Bragg, who died two years ago and who was president of the United States when his death was engaged in litigation with his children over property to the amount of $500,000.

Daughter-in-Law Is Chief Curtner Heir

Bequests totalling $132,000 are made in the will of the late Henry Curtner, banker and real estate owner of Warm Springs, which was filed for probate in the superior court today by his sons, Arthur and Jacob Curtner, who were named as executors. He left an estate valued at $250,000. Mrs. Curtner, a daughter-in-law, is the chief heir named in the will. She is left $75,000 while three grand-children are left $13,000 each. In a postscript to the will which is written in Curtner's hand, Cornelia Donovan, a cousin, is named as executrix. She is left for her four sons before his death, and in his will bequeaths them but $5 each. The other two sons are W. J. and Jacob Curtner.

CATARRH LEADS TO CONSUMPTION

Catarrh is as much a blood disease as is a cold or influenza. It may be relieved, but it cannot be removed by simply local treatment. It causes headache and dizziness, impairs the taste, smell and hearing, affects the voice, deranges the digestion, and weakens the delicate lung tissues and leads to consumption. Hood's Sarsaparilla goes to the seat of the trouble, purifies the blood, and is so successful that it is known as the best remedy for catarrh. Hood's Sarsaparilla strengthens and tones the whole system. It builds up. Ask your druggist for Hood's and insist on having it. There is no real substitute.—Advertisement.

England Refuses U. S. Demand Blacklist Rule Will Stand

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—The British reply to the latest American note protesting against the trade blacklist, made public last night by the state department, denies that rights of neutral traders under international law have been ruthlessly canceled, and that the blacklist measure as a municipal regulation plainly concerning the British government and British citizens and contends that it is designed to shorten the war.

The notes falls to meet the American demand that the names of American firms be stricken from the blacklist, but attempts to convince the state department that the British position is just and founded on law. It leaves open the door for further negotiation, which is expected to follow.

The note was subscribed by Viscount Grey, the British foreign minister, and was addressed to and transmitted by Walter Hines Page, the American ambassador at London.

PEACE NOT IN SIGHT

A part which attracted much of the notice dealt with the subject of peace, based on the theory that on American contention had been that there exists no military necessity for the blacklist; that it is unnecessary for the allies to prejudice neutral commerce, and that nothing which happens in distant neutral countries can influence the result of the great conflict. On this the note says:

It is really the position that it is possible that the measures taken by his majesty's government might be described as uncalled for, but it is not. We may justly wish that it were so. Even though the military situation of the allies has greatly improved, there is still a long and bitter struggle in front of them, and one which, in justice to the principle for which they are fighting, imposes upon them the duty of employing every opportunity and every measure which they can legitimately use to overcome their opponents.

GERMANS ARE AIDED. In the argument the note points out that German business houses throughout the world have furthered the cause of Germany in the war and have been active agents "for the dissemination of German political and racial influence and the purpose of espionage."

The note is based largely on the argument that there is no assumption by Great Britain of power to interfere with neutral traders, but that the blacklist is a matter of municipal law enjoining British subjects from trading with persons found to be assisting or rendering service to the enemy. It discloses any intention of imposing disabilities or penalties on neutral trade, and continues:

I can scarcely believe that the United States government intends to challenge the right of Great Britain as a sovereign state to pass legislation prohibiting all those who owe her allegiance from trading with any specified persons when such prohibition is found necessary in the public interest. The right to do so is so obvious that I feel sure that the protest which your excellency has handed to me has been founded on a misunderstanding of the scope and intent of the measures which have been taken.

ADmits CONTENTION. The note says the British government readily admits the contention of the United States that neutrals have the right to trade with belligerents, but that the United States must also admit that the right of one belligerent to stop this trade by lawful means as self-defense of the blockade. But this particular legislation, it goes on to say, is not of this character. "It is," says the note, "an exercise of the sovereign right of an independent state over its own citizens and nothing more."

It is pointed out that even firms in allied nations are being placed on the list where there is reason to believe that British subjects should not trade with them, and the assertion is made that the measure is not one against American trade in particular, but a part of "general belligerent operations designed to weaken the enemy's resources."

NOT FOSTERING TRADE

Answering the American contention that there is serious danger to neutral commerce generally in the British ability to extend the list where it seems excellent, the note says that this is true, but that the American government may rest assured that "this system of prohibitions will not be carried further than is absolutely necessary."

Viscount Grey says apparently there are persons in the United States almost impossible to convince that Great Britain is taking measures against its enemies and not merely to foster its own trade at the expense of neutrals. He denies his government "has such unworthy objects in view," asserting that in all cases his government has done everything possible to cause as little dislocation of neutral commerce as possible.

MILITARY HEAD QUARREL CENTER

Appointment of Militia Minister in Canada Caused Resignation of Hughes.

OTTAWA, Ont., Nov. 15.—Letters exchanged between Sir Robert Borden, Canadian premier, and Sir Sam Hughes, whose resignation as minister of militia was requested, were made public here. They showed that the appointment of Sir George Perley as overseas minister of militia led to the differences between the premier and Sir Sam Hughes.

While in England last summer, it was disclosed, Sir Sam appointed a military council to manage Canadian military affairs. Sir Robert Borden, it was said, held that Sir Sam had exceeded his authority. Then it was that Sir George Perley was appointed overseas minister of militia without pay.

Sir Sam urged that Sir Max Aitken, be chosen for the position. The premier declined and charged Sir Sam with "disregarding the principles of joint responsibility."

The premier resented an intimation that he and Sir George Perley had secretly planned for an overseas minister of militia and asked for Sir Sam's resignation.

English Influences Declared to Be Behind Order of U. S. Immigration Officials Which Stops Hindu Historian.

Travelers From Orient Are De-tained at Angel Island Unable to Discover Reason of Act, While Officials Give No Hint

Benoy Kumar Sarkar, former professor of history in the University of Calcutta, Harbarnan Sandok, step-brother of Jow Allu Singh, former potato king of Stockton, and Maladeo Mondedkar, friends of Professor James H. Wood, world famous Orientalist of Harvard, were temporarily detained by the federal authorities upon orders, presumably from Washington, upon their arrival on the liner Ecuador of the Pacific Mail line today.

FROM YOKOHAMA.
The three boarded the liner at Yokohama. It is not known whether or not the reason for the detention lies in a protest from the British government that they had escaped from India by subterfuge or was through fear of the American government that they were liable to become public charges. The latter reason is given Commissioner of Immigration Edward White, who declared the three are being held for investigation. Sarkar, who is a historian of world repute, toured the United States two years ago. It was rumored today that reports brought to the attention of the British government that Sarkar and his associates had dangerous revolutionary tendencies, and their intended presence in America was intended to be inimical to English interest, had something to do with the investigation which Uncle Sam is making.

GIVE REFERENCE.
The three travelers gave Professor Woods, Timothy Healey, San Francisco attorney and A. C. Chakravarti, 2028 Center street, Berkeley, the latter a member of the local Hindu Club, as references following their detention at Angel Island.

Tanners Say Shoe Prices to Go Up

Pair at $20 Is in Sight, They Declare

CHICAGO, Nov. 15.—How does $15 to $20 a pair for ordinary shoes sound to you?
Well, delegates to the convention of the National Association of Tanners, in session here say these prices are in the offing and coming fast. And they are not the kind that go way up to meet the high skirt, either, but just the plain, everyday variety.

ROWELL FURNISHES ANOTHER CHAPTER

Progressive Republican Leader
Renews His Attack on Kees-ling and Crocker.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 15.—Chester H. Rowell, chairman of the Republican state committee, this afternoon continued another chapter in the controversy between Republicans and Progressive leaders as to responsibility for defeat of Charles E. Hughes when he lost a statement renewing his attack on William Crocker and especially Mr. Keesling. "Mr. Crocker and especially Mr. Keesling," he said, "insisted, even to the extent of defying Mr. Wilson and Mr. Hughes, that they could prevent any recognition either of Governor Johnson or of the Progressives as such which could be susceptible of a suspicion of neutrality between Governor Johnson and Mr. Hughes, which could open Mr. Hughes to the imputation of permitting the Republican party to be progressive, even by the vote of a majority of its members."

He repeated his previous charge that Crocker and Keesling "succeeded in presenting to the people of California a picture of Hughes they desired to present." "If the advice and practically the demand of the national managers of Mr. Hughes' campaign," he concluded, "had not been suppressed and defied by those in charge of it, Mr. Hughes would now be beyond question the president-elect."

Labor Delegates Vote to Thank President

BALTIMORE, Md., Nov. 15.—The American Federation of Labor delegates, in convention here, voted today to go to Washington Saturday afternoon to call on President Wilson in recognition of his interest in organized labor. The vote was almost unanimous. Joseph D. Cannon of New York alone objected.

"I want my protest to go on record," he said. "I take no hand in an attempt to turn the federation over to any political party or to go to Washington to fawn upon Wilson."

Among the mass of resolutions presented today was one demanding an investigation into the high cost of living.

Hughes Has Lead in Minnesota; 223 Votes

ST. PAUL, Nov. 14.—With presumably ten precincts of civilian voters and fifteen counties of soldier vote missing, Hughes at noon led Wilson in Minnesota by 223 on the face of available figures. Returns today showed the difference definitely, however, and will feature them until the official recount in Hennepin county (Minneapolis) tomorrow. Civilian voters thus gave Hughes 178,340; Wilson 178,652. Soldier votes in 15 of 77 counties where soldiers voted, gave Wilson 971; Hughes 882. These totaled Hughes 179,534; Wilson 179,311. Hughes' lead, 223.

Wintry Weather May Delay Wilson Welcome

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—Snow, sleet and wintry blasts today made dubious the outlook for the big parade and celebration planned for tomorrow night by Washington as a "home-coming" welcome to President Wilson. Those in charge of the big demonstration, however, announced that the parade would be held the first favorable evening.

Red fire, torch bearers, fireworks and a presidential salute of twenty-one aerial bombs over the White House grounds are to lend "color" to the big rally.

President Invited to Make Trip West

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—The invitations from Western states urging President Wilson to visit that section were left at the White House today by John E. Osborne, assistant secretary of state and former governor of Wyoming. At the White House it was said it was very doubtful if the president would have time to make the trip before Congress assemblies.

Hughes May Become Member of Law Firm

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—Two of the most interested parties refused to deny a report that Charles Evans Hughes is to become a partner in the law firm of Cadwalader, Wickersham & Taft of No. 40 Wall street. They were Henry W. Taft of the firm, brother of former President William H. Taft, and Mr. Hughes himself, through one of his secretaries.

ADAMSON LAW IS TO BE CONTESTED

Railroads Prepare to Go Into Court and Employees Threaten Strike.

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—Managers, representing the greatest of the nation's rail lines, dug deeply again today into the Adamson eight-hour measure. Their purpose was not only to get its intricacies cleared, but likewise to establish, if possible, a basis for its operation more favorable than they now foresee. Meantime their attorneys planned rapid steps in filing actions against the government as test cases.

While only one case may be used as a test, all roads will be involved, so that the penalty clause will not rest against them.

All the brotherhood leaders had quit New York, but all indications pointed to a willingness on the managers' part to talk business with the union heads—though perhaps not on terms suitable to the unions. The New York Central railroad planned to be the first of the Eastern railroads to enter a suit.

One of the chief contentions of these suits is that the Adamson law violates the fifth amendment "by arbitrarily and unreasonably" depriving the roads of their liberty of contract and property without due process of law; that it discriminates against certain railroad workers, and that it inflicts enormous penalties.

The union attitude is that the railroads are trying to evade the spirit of the law and that any concessions must come from the transportation heads. It is likely that the union men will lay their side before President Wilson next week, though apparently the situation is not such yet as to need any action from the President.

Department of Justice Will Fight All Suits

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—Attorney-General Gregory has decided that suits by railroads against enforcement of the Adamson eight-hour law will be defended by the department of justice. The defense to be presented in each case will be worked out between Solicitor-General Davis and other department officials with United States attorneys in various jurisdictions.

The department was unable today to determine whether or not it was necessary to defend each of the many suits already begun or whether the railroads would be content to make a test case of one suit. No word has reached the attorney-general from the railroads suggesting such course, and if such a proposal is not made each suit will be defended.

Reports that railroad and brotherhood officials had considered a suggestion that Gregory be asked to suspend operation of the Adamson law for thirty days were met with the statement that the attorney-general has no such authority and that his only course is to defend the suits or let them go by default.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 15.—The Pennsylvania Railroad Company today filed in the Federal District Court here a bill in equity asking for an injunction against the three United States district attorneys in Pennsylvania, forbidding them from bringing prosecutions against the railroad under the Adamson eight-hour law. The court is asked to declare the eight-hour law unconstitutional and void.

MORE ROADS FILE.
MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Nov. 15.—The Northern Pacific, Great Northern and Minneapolis & St. Louis lines today filed applications for injunctions against operations of the Adamson law.

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—The New York Central railroad today filed suit in the federal district court to test the constitutionality of the Adamson eight-hour law.

Shows No. 2 Ahead of Ticket.

Unofficial returns on the "wet" and "dry" vote in Alameda county Tuesday of last week show that Amendment No. 1 was defeated in the 410 precincts in the county by something like 19,000 votes, while No. 2 lost by the narrower margin of a few more than 5000 votes.

Both amendments carried in Berkeley, No. 1 with a majority of less than 3000, and No. 2 with a majority of more than 5000. In no other city or town in the county did either of the amendments have a majority in their favor, although the fight in Hayward was close on No. 2, but 24 more persons voting against that measure than the total of those who voted for its passage.

Throughout the entire county precinct after precinct which had gone against No. 1 returned majorities for No. 2. In very few instances was there no change recorded as between the two amendments. In only one precinct in the county did No. 1 receive more votes for its passage than did No. 2, and the difference was only two ballots.

Total for county on Amendment No. 1. Yes, 23,514; No, 37,620. Total for county on Amendment No. 2. Yes, 26,292; No, 33,862.

Alameda, 11,183; Berkeley, 8,409; Piedmont, 3,173; Emeryville, 174; San Leandro, 433; Hayward, 433.

Alimony Is Lemon So Wife Says 'No'

Wins Decree, But Foregoes Money

"Well, you're entitled to a divorce all right," Superior Judge W. H. Donahue told Irene Ciccarelli after she had testified that Gennaro Ciccarelli had beaten her in the street until a fireman had come to her rescue, "what else do you wish the court to give you? I suppose you know your rights in the case."

"Yes," she replied, "my lawyer told me."

"Well," the judge answered, "you know you are entitled to alimony. Do you want alimony?"

"No, judge," quickly retorted the fair plaintiff. "In Italy, as I have means lemon, and my husband told me he would send me a box of alimony any time I wanted it."

The court adjourned to go into chambers and laug.

NEGRO SENTENCED

George Phelps, a negro, was sentenced to imprisonment in the county jail for a year and a half by Superior Judge F. B. Ogden today, following his conviction by a jury on a charge of having assaulted Lucy Brown, a negro, with a deadly weapon. Witnesses testified that

New York Discusses California Election Result Is Analyzed

The San Francisco Examiner this morning prints the following story from New York:

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—Hiram Johnson has been eliminated as a 1920 Presidential possibility by both Hughes and Roosevelt devotees, according to authoritative information at Republican headquarters.

When returns indicated today that about 200,000 plurality for United States Senator and Hughes had run behind him at least 203,500, both Hughes and Roosevelt managers agreed that they would try to make him an impossibility for head of the national ticket four years hence.

Hughes leaders charged Johnson with treachery to their Presidential candidate.

Roosevelt leaders declared that Johnson is in the Colonel's way and must be eliminated if the Colonel is to be the next United Republican-Progressive nominee.

Vengeance upon Johnson was vowed even while rumors were in circulation that the topping off of a cipher of a 7000 plurality for Hughes had so changed the returns that there was yet a chance that the Republican candidate would appropriate California's electoral vote.

In the midst of incessant telephone inquiries from Wall Street and political headquarters, nation-wide as to whether the 6300 error had actually been discovered, National Chairman Willcox said:

It is untrue that Mr. Hughes ever declined to meet Governor Johnson. I have yet to be reliably informed that Governor Johnson refused to meet Mr. Hughes.

I am not going to criticize Governor Johnson or anybody else until I get all the facts.

WILSON GAINS IN CALIFORNIA COUNT

Official Returns From Forty-Six Counties Show Gain of 435.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 15.—A net gain of 435 votes for President Wilson was recorded in complete official returns from forty-six of the fifty-eight counties in California, as tabulated by the United Press this afternoon. The official returns from these counties show: Hughes, 127,839; Wilson, 142,815, a lead for Wilson in the state of 14,976. The same counties, on the face of unofficial returns, gave Hughes, 127,702; Wilson, 142,243, a lead for Wilson of 14,541.

All of the larger counties of the state are returning from the completed official returns. These include Los Angeles, San Francisco, Alameda, Fresno, Sacramento, San Bernardino and Santa Clara. In six of these Wilson led and in the other six Hughes led.

Phelps had tried to shoot the woman following a quarrel in a West Oakland cafe.

ELECTION FRAUDS CONFERENCE TOPIC

Wilson, and Attorney-General
Consider Plans for Big Investigation.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—Investigation of election frauds was discussed briefly today at a conference between President Wilson and Attorney General Gregory. Later Gregory declared his investigation will be separate from the one proposed by the senatorial committee. He said:

My sole duty is to investigate and prosecute violations of federal law. The investigation is now in progress. It is entirely non-partisan and evidence both from Republican and Democratic sources will be given equal attention. I have evidence that a large number of negroes from the South moved into northern states within ninety days before the election. So far I do not know whether this movement was industrial or political, although some of them attempted to register.

Former Assemblyman Is Accused by Wife

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 15.—James J. Byrnes, former assemblyman, Coast League umpire and baseball player, will have to explain to Superior Judge Murnighan on Friday why he has not paid alimony to his wife, Marie, pending a settlement of their marital difficulties. The court has cited him for contempt.

Byrnes was ordered to assign to his wife the income from property in Oakland and pay her $25 in addition. Cruelty is the charge in a lengthy divorce complaint filed recently by Mrs. Byrnes.

MEXICO MAY HALT NIPPON FISHERMEN

Japanese Abalone Tender Is Seized by Lower California Governor While at Work in Turtle Bay; Outcome Awaited

Policy of Exclusion May Be in Operation in Republic if Gov. Canu's Drastic Step Reflects Attitude of Carranza Officials

SAN DIEGO, Nov. 15.—That Japanese fishermen may be denied the right of fishing in Mexican waters of Lower California was indicated here today when it became known that Estaban Canu, governor of Lower California, was presumably back of the seizure at Turtle Bay last Saturday of the Japanese abalone tender Asia by the Mexican patrol boat Ensenada.

It was reported to government officials here recently that Canu had issued an order forbidding the entry of Japanese into Lower California. The policy of Japanese exclusion was apparently carried out Saturday when the Asia, an eight horsepower craft valued at $1200, was seized at Turtle Bay by Canu's patrol boat for alleged poaching on the preserves of Mexican fishing interests. The Asia is owned by the M. K. Fisheries, one of the largest of the Japanese fishing companies.

Author Afraid to Go to New York Now

SANTA ROSA, Nov. 15.—Jack London thinks President Wilson's re-election is "all right," he told friends on the courthouse steps here. But three years ago he had different ideas about this matter, he said.

"I met a New York newspaper man in Vera Cruz three years ago and bet him a dinner that Wilson could not be re-elected. The agreement was made that the winner should invite as many friends as he chose to the dinner. "I have got to go to New York soon and I don't want to meet that man. I am afraid that he will make a point of running in a couple of hundred friends on me."

Butchers to Hold Union Rally at Pantages Theater

ALICE VANCE.

Local Members to Invade Show House With Stunts of Their Own.

Oakland's butchers will gather in force tonight at the Pantages, when the big theater party of the local Butchers' Union is held at the Pantages. The affair will be one of the most important labor union parties of the year, and will be replete with special events. Herman Krieger, president of the union, is to be heard in a German monologue as an added feature to the program, and Miss Alice Vance, daughter of a prominent member of the union, will sing.

There are an unusually large number of theater parties booked this week at the Pantages during the engagement of Lester, the Rigoletto Brothers, and Ned Nestor and his "Ten Sweethearts," these including parties of a number of fraternal organizations and several labor bodies.

FUNERAL IS HELD.

LIVERMORE, Nov. 15.—Funeral services were held in St. Michael's church, at 10 o'clock this morning, for William Burton, nineteen-year-old son of John Burton, who died Tuesday following a two years' sickness. John Burton leaves two brothers, Ben and George, a mother and father, all of whom reside in Livermore.

HAMMERSTEIN'S WIDOW TOWED

Daughter-in-Law of the Noted Impresario to Be Bride of Captain.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 15.—A thread of finest gold spanned Geary street last night, linking room 917, St. Francis Hotel, with room 336, Stewart Hotel.

In room 917, excited and happy, was Eleanor Schoonover Hammerstein, charming widow of Harry Hammerstein of Yonkers, N. Y., who was a son of Oscar Hammerstein, famed impresario.

In room 336, happy and excited, was Captain Cyril E. Lewis of California, only recently returned from the Mexican border, where he had seen service in the medical corps as a representative of the California National Guard.

Just a few days ago Captain Lewis was introduced to Mrs. Hammerstein at a dinner party at a downtown cafe. Now they are engaged to be wed.

After a long evening passed together, Mrs. Hammerstein admitted that she had given her promise to Captain Lewis.

"I thought this as a possible phase of my visit to California," said Mrs. Hammerstein late last night.

"I came out here to pursue my art—painting. And now, before my palette and brushes are unpacked, I have met Captain Lewis. I cannot deny it, we are engaged to be wed."

"Yes," said Captain Lewis at the Stewart. "I am happy to confirm what Mrs. Hammerstein has said."

Mrs. Hammerstein said that before she became the wife of Harry Hammerstein she was the wife of J. Charles Fonda of Port Jervis, N. Y.

Two Children May Die, Result of Burns

PORTERVILLE, Nov. 15.—The two-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Glaci, residents at Magnessite, six miles east of here, is a patient at a local hospital suffering from possibly fatal burns.

The child pulled over a kettle containing boiling potatoes and emptied the contents over her body.

The three-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Young, orchardists of the Flano district south of here, was perhaps fatally burned this morning. The child was alone in the house and the parents, attracted by her screams, found her crouching in a mass of flames. How the accident occurred could not be learned.

BROKER FOUND IN WOODS.

SMASH WINDOW TO STEAL JEWELRY

Early Morning Crime Committed in Heart of Business District.

During window-smashers operating between 7 and 8 o'clock this morning within two blocks of the City Hall succeeded in robbing a jewelry store at 1112 Washington street, obtaining the contents of several trays of jewelry which were with the store.

While scores of people were passing up and down Washington street, about 7 o'clock the thieves made their way to the store and smashed the window.

Meyer Lewis, proprietor of the store, admitted that his loss will be small compared to what it would have been had he not been so careless.

It is believed that the window had been watched by the thieves for several days and that the diamonds had been spotted. The opportune time did not arise until this morning.

It was learned by Lewis from acquaintances who passed the store, which is located in the Bacon building, shortly after 7 o'clock that the window was intact.

Three men were observed to be peering into the window, their actions attracting attention of the passer-by, who thought nothing more of the incident until he learned of the robbery an hour later.

In broad daylight, in a business section in the heart of the city without anyone hearing the crash or noticing the robbers as they reached within the window and gathered together the scattered pieces of jewelry, considered extraordinary by the police. The job was quickly done, evidently by two or more persons, it is the theory, the view of the window being obstructed by members of the gang standing in front.

Loss of the jewelry, which is estimated to exceed $100.

Watch Works Clew to Oakland Theft

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 15.—The discovery on the roof of a theater at Geary and Powell street, of a package containing nine watch movements and faces of expensive make and pattern, evidently thrown away by the thief who had taken the cases for the gold contained therein, has led the San Francisco police to communicate with the Oakland authorities in the belief that the thief is known across the bay.

The movements were wrapped in a copy of a San Francisco weekly paper and the address, almost illegible, reads, Rev. R. Sansom, 0010 East Fourteenth street, Oakland. Very evidently there is a mistake in the number but the fact that the paper was evidently thrown away and picked up by some one would indicate that the culprit may have come from Oakland.

It is possible that the watches were stolen there, the cases melted for gold and the movements thrown on the theater building where they would be little likely to be found. Sergeant Thomas Ryan is working on the case.

Daylight Saving Plan Is Favored

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—The adoption of the daylight saving plan by setting the clock forward one hour in the United States, through public concurrence, from May 1 to September 30, 1917, will be considered at a national daylight saving convention to be held on January 30 and 31 next, plans for which were announced here today.

Chambers of commerce and board of trade throughout the country will be represented and the governors of all states, the mayors of 150 cities, the American Bankers' Association and state banking organizations, the American Federation of Labor and various other commercial, financial, labor and scientific bodies will be requested to send delegates.

The American Railway Association will consider the project at its semi-annual meeting here tomorrow.

Mother Goose Rules Over Home Benefit

Mother Goose, with all her picture-book friends, including Bo Peep, Mother Hubbard, the Old Lady in the Shoe and others, were in attendance at the indoor picnic and fancy sale held at the Day Room, 1059 Eighth street today under the auspices of the sisters of the Convent of the Holy Family.

The affair, which was a costume function, attracted scores of children and adults. Fish ponds, games, grab bags, riddles and a score of other amusements were provided for the tiny tots. For the grownups beautiful embroideries, laces and fancy work of all kinds, displayed in artistic booths, were sold by young ladies in the costumes of many years.

The affair was for the purpose of obtaining funds with which to erect a new home for children within the next few months.

Rotarians to Greet District Governor

Greeting will be extended Homer W. Sumpton, governor of the Thirteenth district of American Rotary Clubs, by the local organization tomorrow at the customary Hotel Oakland luncheon. Sumpton is from San Diego and a member of the Rotary Club in that city. Several committee meetings will be held under the direction of the officials tomorrow, and after the luncheon a formal gathering of the board of local directors will bring up important matters. Tomorrow's luncheon will have as an additional feature a musical number, prepared by Alexander Stewart, widely known composer and musician, who is a member of the Rotary Club.

Coat on Axle of Car Clew to Death

STOCKTON, Nov. 15.—Presumably while stealing a ride on a freight train, a man believed to be C. E. Allen of Chicago, was killed near Lathrop.

When the train reached the yards at Lathrop, a brakeman discovered a badly torn coat, covered with blood, wrapped around an axle on one of the cars. The train was backed up and soon came upon portions of the body.

The only clew to the identity of the man is a tag on the inside of the coat bearing the name of G. R. Allen, Chicago.

FEDERAL RELIEF OIL MEN'S PLEA

Californian Tells the American Mining Congress of Legal Hardships.

CHICAGO, Nov. 15.—A paper favoring remedial national legislation in connection with hardships entailed on Western mining men by the withdrawal from California and Wyoming in September, 1909, was read before the American Mining Congress at this afternoon by Roy N. Bishop, president of the Oil Industry Association of California.

A divided supreme court, said Bishop, declared illegal the withdrawal, authorized by act of Congress in February, 1909, and he said the same as a blow to many men who had placed their entire financial resources in the western mining fields. They were under the assumption that, although it was early realized that the law passed in 1897 could not properly be applied to the prospecting and development of petroleum lands, the government would do no willful injustice in cases where actual prospecting was in progress.

Pagen Met Death As Brave Soldier

While endeavoring to save the life of a colonel in Company B, East Kent regiment, the same battlefront in France, Captain Wilfrid Robert Pagen, locally known and connected with the British army medical corps, received a death wound under heavy fire. The heroic action was recounted to Mrs. S. A. Pagen, mother of the dead officer, in a letter received from Mrs. W. R. Pagen, of Whitehaven, England.

According to the letter of the dead officer's widow, Pagen was wounded at the village of Guencourt, near the Somme, October 7. At first, Pagen was made that he was wounded, but the later letter from Mrs. Pagen's daughter-in-law tells of the death of the soldier son. Besides Mrs. Pagen, whose home is in Claremont, four brothers reside in the bay district. They are John L. William T. Brian and Roland J. Pagen. Mrs. Pagen and Roland Pagen are at present in Los Angeles. The letter of sorrow tells of the colonel's report to the army authorities, in which the exact manner of the officer's death was described, and of a personal letter from the English King expressing condolence to the widow.

Blind Senator Will Be Luncheon Guest

United States Senator Thomas P. Gore of Oklahoma will be the guest of honor at a luncheon Friday noon at Hotel Oakland. The affair will be under the direction of the Woman's Democratic Club, the Jefferson Club and the Woodrow Wilson Woman's Club.

Senator Gore will be the speaker tomorrow night at the first number of the lecture course to be given by the Oakland Teachers' Association in the auditorium of the Technical High School. He will speak on the subject, "Social Duty." There are several numbers in the course which will include some well known speakers.

Which Do You Prefer?

It is important for reasons of health and practical economy for every housekeeper to ask herself this question:

"Do I prefer a pure baking powder like Royal, made of cream of tartar derived from grapes, or am I willing to use a baking powder made of alum or phosphate, both derived from mineral sources?"

The names of the ingredients printed on the label show whether the kind you are now using or any brand, new or old, that may be offered is a genuine cream of tartar powder, or merely a phosphate or alum compound.

Royal Baking Powder contains no alum nor phosphate.

CHRISTMAS CHEER FOR INFIRMARY

Committee to Appeal for Aid to Give Aged Inmates Holiday Festivity at County Institution for Poor.

Day to Be Made One of Sure Rejoicing Where Old Men and Women Sit in Halo of the Past Memories of Old Days

They sat on a bench in the sun, watching some sparrows in the roadway leading up to the Boulevard to the infirmity buildings. In warm weather they had watched the sparrows here every day for many months. Presently one of the aged men turned to his companion.

"Anything been troubling you these last few days?" he asked, the words coming with the slow deliberation of one who has hours and not minutes in which to carry on a conversation.

"Christmas is coming," muttered the other, speaking with the same monotonously slow utterance.

"Well, what's that got to do with it?" asked the first speaker.

"Nothing, only I was just thinking." He paused for two or three minutes. Then he added, almost as if he were speaking to himself: "Thinking of Christmas when it did matter—and somebody cared."

There was silence for a long time between the two.

Then the one who had commenced the conversation said slowly: "Never mind. The holidays will soon be over, and we'll forget all about them again."

Christmas is coming, and at the Alameda County Infirmary there are almost 800 men and women for whom the measure of Christmas will be the memories of Christmas in past years. There are 800 men and women, most of whom know nothing which carries a pathos more real at this season of the year than any other. This is the realization that nobody cares. Nobody cares what becomes of them as individuals. There is a humanitarian feeling that they should be fed and clothed and housed—that they should not be mistreated, or be allowed to go hungry or cold.

But this philanthropic care is spread in a general and impersonal manner over the entire group. But the thing that presses upon the consciousness of the individual, as an individual, is that there is no one

FLUSH KIDNEYS WITH SALTS IF BACK IS ACHING

Noted Authority Says We Eat Too Much Meat, Which Clogs Kidneys.

Take Glass of Salts When Kidneys Hurt or Bladder Bothers You.

No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which excites the kidneys, they become overworked from the strain, get sluggish and fail to filter the waste and poison from the blood, then we get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, dizziness, sleeplessness and urinary disorders come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediments, first passage or attended by a sensation of scaling, stop eating meat and get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, and in a few days your kidneys will not feel. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate the kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active and the blood purer, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications. Advertisement.

Chaplin Seen As Stage Hand in Comic Play

CHARLIE CHAPLIN.

Famous Comedian at Best in Novel Offering at Broadway.

Charlie Chaplin plays the intensely amusing role of a stage hand in "Behind the Screen," at the Broadway. This new production is surely Charlie's best since he has been cowering on the screen. There are very few people in the universe who have not the desire to see "behind" the motion picture screen. In other words, all but a few "dead ones" are anxiously waiting to see just how and where motion pictures are filmed. Chaplin, realizing this, wrote and scenarized a story about the life in the studio.

"Behind the Screen," a two-reel comedy production is enough to whet even a most uninterested one's appetite for seeing "Behind the Screen." The scenes in this new comedy are laid in the studio of the Flicker Film Corporation, where Chaplin is the assistant property man to one Gollath. Edna, a beautiful country maid, comes to the studio to apply for a position. She is met by the manager, who is turned down by Chaplin, after donning overalls, to assist her. There is much excitement for them both when she comes to the all too abrupt ending, when we see Charlie clasp Edna in his arms. Then he thanks her for her visit.

person in the world who cares particularly and individually for him.

ONLY A DATE.

This is merely an imaginary sorrow—if they are fed and housed, what further duty rests upon the community?

The whole realm of Christmas is in the imagination. There is nothing but the red letters in the calendar to show that the 25th of December is any different from the 24th, or the 26th, excepting in the imagination.

This is why the approach of Christmas is looked upon with almost a feeling of dread by men and women forced to live within the walls of an institution. The craving of man and woman is for something human to fill this void in the Christmas imagination. The institution offers no answer to this utter need.

Men and women are in the Alameda County Infirmary for the most part because they are without friends or relatives who can care for them, and because they have gotten beyond that place in the struggle where they can keep up in the struggle. Some have steady jobs and relatives, and these will be remembered on Christmas day. They will be remembered with little extra dainties, with the human value of thought, with the nothing when compared with the spirit that goes with it.

The happiness of these few will serve only to emphasize the lack in the rest of their companions, by showing the contrast.

Christmas is coming. But Christmas, instead of meaning a job and happiness, the word carries with its carolled tidings, the mean of sorrow, unless unless the plans of a group of some who have thought of this situation in advance shall meet with the sympathetic help of the people.

These men, with a warm-hearted realization of the needs of the men and women in the infirmary at this holiday season, have planned to bring happiness within the walls of this home of forgotten hopes.

They plan that each man and woman shall receive some little remembrance, some individual present to mark Christmas day. They plan that there shall be a Christmas dinner, perhaps a Christmas tree, an observance of the day that will make these men and women for an hour or so forget the barrenness of their lives.

COMMITTEE AT WORK.

The Christmas rejoicing will be in the hands of a committee consisting of B. A. Forrester, Rev. Alexander Allen, pastor of St. Paul's; Dr. C. A. Wills, superintendent of the infirmary, and Harry East Miller. The emphasis will be laid, not upon the religious significance of the day, but in its meaning in good fellowship and love of human kind.

The Rev. Mr. Allen has been made treasurer of the committee. It is estimated that to provide present and a dinner it will be necessary to raise about $1000. The fund is to be started at once. Checks may be sent to the treasurer direct.

Somebody gave Blue Bird an old automobile coaster, the joy of some youngsters who had gradually outgrown it before it was worn out. It was slightly in need of a repair, but it could still bring happiness to the heart of a boy.

The coaster was shoved under a bench in an unused room in "The Tribune" building and there it stayed. A few days ago a man to whom it happened to be mentioned that the coaster had been received came back with this request:

"Give me the coaster. There's a family down the street from where I live and the boy has never had a toy bigger than an old train that some other boy had gotten tired of. I'll give it to him for Christmas."

The coaster has gone to the blacksmith shop to be put in shape before Christmas comes. It is to be painted, and made to look as good as new. And then it will be presented to the boy who never had a coaster or a bicycle, or even a pair of skates.

Here is a letter that tells the story of a warm-hearted giver:

Blue Bird: I read in your paper the other day the story of an old lady who was in need of some clothing. I am sending her through you a warm gown, also a dollar to help pay rent.

I am also sending a dollie. You can give it to some little girl who has none. Wish I could send more.

A FRIEND.

WOMEN ELECTORS BEHIND IN COUNT

Men Candidates Lead in Tally of Returns in This County.

Women presidential electors on both the Republican and the Democratic tickets are running slightly behind the men on the same tickets, according to the showing made in the official canvass of Alameda county's votes now being held by the Board of Supervisors. The difference is slight, but nevertheless noticeable. This has been found to be true in a majority of the 212 precincts which have thus far been counted. According to James C. Holland, clerk of the Board of Supervisors, the difference in votes will not be sufficient to split the electorate, so far as Alameda county's returns are concerned.

President Wilson continues to gain in the official canvass. He has now gained a net total of 18 votes over Hughes in comparison to the figures given out officially last week. Louis Schaffer has made a net gain of six votes over Assemblyman William R. Brackett. No other gains have been recorded.

Representatives of both the Republican and Democratic parties, and a United States marshal's deputy are still watching the official canvass.

Members of Oakland precinct 77 appeared before the supervisors in answer to citations of Deputy District Attorney P. Wittschen and rectified the mistakes they had made in tallying. They were Rosie Davis, Fred L. Simmons, George Flynn, Leora C. Kuhl, Leonard Carroll and Gertrude Williams.

THIEVES ARE BUNY.

The theft of a suit of clothes, an overcoat and a stickpin set with diamonds and amethysts was reported to the police this morning by Fred Phillips, 1814 Telegraph avenue. B. R. Enwenter of the same address reported the loss of two suits of clothes, an overcoat and a pair of shoes. T. H. Foreman, 1421 Twenty-third avenue, reported that an attempt had been made to enter his store by some person who broke the glass in the front door. An investigation showed that nothing had been taken.

UP, UP, UP, GOES PRICE OF FLOUR

New Advance of 20 Cents Per Barrel Hits $10 Figure; Geletine, Too.

Flour for family use has advanced 20 cents a barrel, in effect today, retail grocers now charging $2.50 a sack instead of $2.30, which makes the barrel price $10. There are approximately 49 pounds to the sack. The grocer pays $9 a barrel.

E. S. Hogan, secretary of the Retail Grocers' Association, advanced the theory today that bread will soon be selling at the rate of seven and one-half cents for a twelve-ounce loaf and twelve and one-half cents for a 24-ounce loaf. He said: "There appears to be no way around the situation. Wholesalers and retailers are up against a stiff proposition."

Indicative of the way food stuffs are advancing over the day are the barrel prices of a well known brand of gelatin today costs $17 a gross when before it cost wholesale $14.50 a gross. The packages sold at the rate of two for 25 cents. Now if the grocer is to make a legitimate profit he will have to charge 20 cents a package.

The dollar a barrel profit on flour allowed the grocer leaves him very little margin. Sold by the sack he must handle it over several times and deliver it to the customer, which, considering his investment, makes the transaction unprofitable from a business point of view.

Thanksgiving Is Not Altered

Proclamation to Name November 30

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—The usual Thanksgiving Day proclamation will be issued from the White House within the next few days. President Wilson told inquirers today he would follow custom and designate the last Thursday of the month, which is November 30. Because the date is close to Christmas there was a movement among some business men to set an earlier day for Thanksgiving.

LEVEY INSPECTS NEW FEEDER PLAN

Railroad Official Visits Grass Valley to Look Over Proposal.

GRASS VALLEY, Nov. 15.—President Charles M. Levey of the Western Pacific railroad arrived today to spend two days looking over the possibilities of this section for a feeder line to connect with the Western Pacific's main line. He moved here from Marysville.

Levey appears favorably impressed with the prospect, but will make no statement. Owing to the extensive pear orchard planting here, it is believed the marketing of this fruit alone will in a short time demand a standard gauge railroad.

"Seventeen," New Film, Rivals Printed Story

"Every Youth's Time" Depicted From Tarkington Tale.

Puppy love, calf love—or whatever you choose to call that frightful epidemic to which the youth of all lands fall victim at the tender age of 17—is one of the richest and most fertile fields for the imagination of the humorist. And because of the universality of the theme, which covers a period in the life of every normal boy, it touches a responsive chord everywhere. For that reason Booth Tarkington's great novel, "Seventeen," has made a sensation and has climbed into the ranks of the best sellers with phenomenal speed. The picture is a delightful comedy of those days that only happen once, when young whiskers are at their roots and love and spring run rampant and one borrows one's father's evening clothes and speedy roadsters from an auto company in order to elope with love's young dream. It almost ends disastrously—but it does not. Jack Pickford and Louis Huff are starred in this picture, which is now playing at the Oakland Photo Theatre until Saturday. On the same bill is "Gloriana," a pictorial proof that "Charity begins at home." Introducing little Zoe Rae, the youngest star on the screen.

FRUIT GROWERS OPEN CONVENTION

Various Problems of Trade to Be Discussed Before State Session.

NAPA, Nov. 15.—Growing, packing and marketing California fruits are to be discussed at the annual convention of the California State Fruit Growers' Association which began here today. Many of the delegates were already here, while others were expected to arrive during the day.

The convention follows closely that of the State Association of County Horticulturists, which ended here yesterday after a two days' session, which was attended by nearly all of the county horticulturists. Probably most of them also will attend the fruit growers' convention, recently being on the program for addresses on important subjects.

The convention is held annually under the auspices of the State Horticultural Commission and is regarded as one of the important conventions held in connection with one of the leading industries of the state. The meetings serve as a clearing house for ideas having to do with the improvement of almost all the fruits grown in California.

Addresses on the program for today to include a welcome by E. J. Drussel, mayor of Napa, to which a response was to be made by C. H. Hecke, state commissioner of horticulture. Other addresses are those of Fred G. Stokes, horticultural commissioner of Lake county, and P. H. McKeown, president of California Fruit Distributors; Fred P. Paulard, horticultural commissioner of Fresno county; H. E. Butler of Perry; E. M. Sheehan, secretary of the State Viticultural Commission, and James Madison of Fresno.

Cholera at Tokio Halted by Cold Wave

TOKIO, Nov. 15.—Although cool weather has brought a decrease of cholera at Tokio the malady continues to spread at Osaka. Up to October 10 the cases at Tokio had reached 648; at Osaka the total was 2001, with an increase of 20 daily.

At Tokio there have been 151 deaths. The authorities believe that by the end of the month the epidemic will be entirely wiped out here. No foreigner has been attacked by the disease, so far as is known.

The spread of cholera to Korea has a serious economic effect there, as the authorities have prohibited fishing in a zone extending along 200 miles of coast. Cholera is believed by many physicians to be easily circulated in fish tissue and the fishermen of Korea are said to have failed to comply with sanitary measures ordered by the health department. Some 270,000 fishermen, commanding 40,000 boats, are thus thrown out of work at the most fruitful fishing period of the year. Fear of fish as a vehicle of cholera has reduced the consumption of fish throughout the Japanese Empire and as fish, next to rice, is the chief food of the people the ban placed on fish has caused misery among both fisherman and distributor.

Park Elephant Runs Wild Through Streets

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Nov. 15.—Princess Alice, a huge elephant of the Liberty Park Zoo, property of the city, escaped from her keepers into yesterday and ran to the mountains, five miles from the park, leaving a trail of destruction in her path.

The elephant was being used to move a house at the park when a chain snapped and she became frightened and fled. She ran across lots, breaching down fences and bowling over outbuildings. When she reached the foothills she became tired and submitted to capture by her keepers. She was returned to her quarters at the Zoo.

WHEN HUGHES WAS "ELECTED."

What may be called, for lack of a better name, "newspaper psychology" was an unusual feature of election day and night. Full appreciation of it is now possible through the arrival of Eastern papers. It is a somewhat remarkable fact that nearly every newspaper believed at 10 o'clock, Eastern time, election night, that Mr. Hughes had been elected. There was every reason for this conclusion.
Hughes had carried the States which dopesters had decided would swing the result of the election. It was plain early in the evening that he had won all of New England, New York, New Jersey, Illinois and Indiana. These were sufficient to elect him, it was thought, and, moreover, their majorities were taken to mean a decided drift to Hughes throughout the country. By 9 o'clock the New York Herald, Sun and Tribune, independent Republican papers, had claimed Hughes' election; the American, independent; the Times, discriminatingly Democratic, and the World, a Wilson organ, "soul and body," without reservation, had conceded his election.

The newspapers of the West received the returns from the East and the claims of the Eastern newspapers, about six o'clock, Western time. Nearly every Western paper covering the election issued "extras" heralding Hughes' triumph. The evidence was convincing.

Eastern papers of Wednesday morning, going to press as late as three o'clock Tuesday night were convinced that their first decision was correct. The Philadelphia Inquirer,
The New York Sun, the Herald and Tribune claimed Hughes' election by from thirty to fifty electoral votes.
The Philadelphia Evening Telegraph of Wednesday afternoon also announced the election of Hughes.

Democrats with an ugly disposition in going over a collection of Wednesday morning's papers will probably refer to it as a pathetic reminder of over-confidence. But it was not that; it was merely the message of the returns of the East and Middle West, plus the presumption that Hughes would break even in the Far West, and would carry California.

The most striking evidence of the seriousness with which the newspapers believed the result had been determined was Wednesday morning's editorial leader of the New York Times, that discriminating Democratic organ, and supporter of Mr. Wilson. After announcing that it had frequently said that Republican rule is necessary to the prosperity of the country, it went on to comment upon the marvelous reunion of the Republican party since 1912.
"The rapid and complete healing of so dreadful a wound is without precedence," it said. The Times also had consolation for Mr. Wilson, assuring him that history would do full justice to his administration. It offered advice to Mr. Hughes in the formation of his cabinet, recommending Hon. Elihu Root as Secretary of State. As to Mr. Wilson, it said that when he left the White House next March the country would be in a condition of unprecedented prosperity. "This is the Democratic legacy to the Republicans," said the Times.

The moral to be drawn from all these too hasty conclusions is: The East should in the future wait until the West has been heard from.

THREE-MILE LIMIT OBSOLETE.

One of the necessary revisions of international law which must be taken up by the court of nations after the war ends is the obsolete, outgrown three-mile limit rule of inviolable neutrality. Owing to the longer effective range of instruments of war, both on ships and on shore, the three-mile limit does not safeguard the neutral interest of a nonbelligerent. Neutrals have lost heavily in the present war on account of the ineffectiveness of the three-mile limit in preventing interference with their legal rights by belligerent naval vessels, which have been able to maintain a virtual blockade of ports without violating the letter of the law.

The three-mile limit law is founded upon a doctrine established in the seventeenth century. "Terre dominium finitur ubi finitur armorum vis," said the international jurists, which means that the sovereignty over a territory extends as far as it can be enforced by arms. Three miles at that period was the extreme range of the heaviest coast guns and naval guns carried only about half as far.
Modern increase in the effectiveness of coast and naval ordnance makes it advisable to extend the inviolable dominion of a State over a zone at least twenty miles from the coast, if the doctrine underlying the three-mile limit is to be upheld in fact as well as form.

It involves no hardship upon or prejudice against a foreign nation for a State to assert its physical power over its coastal waters. To extend the limit would involve no agreement with other powers; it would merely be the assertion of the sovereign power of a nation. If, for example, the United States government should proclaim its sovereignty over the coastal waters within the range of our coast defenses, a zone twenty miles wide would be included under the ranges of guns now installed. That would be all that is necessary to meet international custom. It is true that guns of twenty-mile range are not installed in all the coast fortifications, but they have been provided at one or two harbors and their feasibility has been thoroughly demonstrated. All harbor defenses will be equipped with ordnance of the longest possible range in the near future, it is to be hoped.

It would not be consistent with the policy followed since the outbreak of war with regard to belligerent practices to make the change before peace is declared, for we have protested against any changes in existing laws and rules of warfare by belligerents. But it is time for Congress which a few months ago authorized notable strengthening of our coast defenses, to take notice of the situation and to provide for reaping the advantages of our increased power of sovereignty after the present war ends.

DWINDLING PROPHECIES.

Progressive prophecies by a prominent prognosticator
pompously prepared for publication on election day.

Hughes will carry California by 65,000.
Hughes will win by 50,000.
Hughes carries State by 20,000.
California to Hughes by from 6000 to 8000.
Hughes carries State by 800.
Hughes is slightly in the lead in California.
California may give a split electoral vote.
Silence.

The verdict of the complete unofficial returns: Wilson carried California by over 3000.

WHAT WILL RESTORED POLAND BE?

The declaration of the Teutonic allies of their intention to restore Poland to an autonomous kingdom has been quickly succeeded by a call to the Poles of that part of Russia now held by the Central powers to form into a military organization for the defense of the captured territories. This is in itself is not an onerous burden to ask the Poles to assume. It is a big thing to extend to the Polish people the opportunity to fight for the recovery of their right to govern their own land. The Poles should not be distrustful of Austro-German sincerity because of this request for aid in the fight against the enemies of the Central Powers.

There can be no doubt, however, that the Poles are not quite satisfied with the indefinite terms of the proclamation for the restoration of their kingdom. The Polish people are naturally asking themselves whether the Teutonic governments have reference only to the Poland which was ruled over by Russia at the outbreak of the war. If it means only the Poland of John Sobieski it cannot be considered as happily coinciding with the long-cherished dreams of Polish reconstruction.

Poland has been partitioned three times—in 1772, 1793 and 1795. Before the partition of 1772 Western Prussia had been a Polish territory—ever since the power of the Teutonic Order was broken at the battle of Tannenberg in 1410. Western Prussia was the richest portion of Jagellonian Poland and it includes the port of Danzig.
It will be recalled that the Grand Duke Nicholas, in his proclamation during his "masterly retreat" of two years ago, announced that Western Prussia would be included in the "reconstituted Poland" he then promised. That idea had a strong appeal for the Poles and those of them who believed in its honesty must in justice be excused for dilatation in hailing the recent Teutonic proclamation as a great victory.

Under the indefinite terms of the Warsaw proclamation "restored Poland" may mean several things. If it does not contemplate re-establishment of the Poland of 1772, with the restoration of all the territory taken by Russia, Prussia and Austria, with complete independence, it may mean such territorial reintegration, with partial dependence on the Central Powers as a member of a new federation of Central Europe. Or it might mean the incorporation of Poland into either the German Empire or the Hapsburg Empire as a national State, with its own army—such a position as that which Bavaria holds under the Hohenzollerns and Hungary holds under the Haps-burgs. Or it might mean these varying degrees of self-government applied to smaller territory than that of Poland before the partitions.

The first proposition seems to be out of the question and the last to be the most likely of fulfillment. Consideration of the last alternative, in connection to the reference to "intimate relations with both powers" in the recent proclamation, envisions the grand scheme of "Middleg Europe" as outlined by Herr Naumann, the possibility that after the war Central Europe will be united in an economic bond, and that the armies of the members of the economic union will be under the leadership of Germany.

It all depends, however, on the future fortunes of war and in the meantime the Polish people can only hope for the happiest outcome possible. She can only play the role of recipient.

THE ARMY AND NAVY.

(The Washington Post.)

Much favorable comment was created by the victory of the forces advocating an adequate navy at the last session of Congress, but it must be evident even to the most casual observer that four dreadnaughts and four battle cruisers do not make a navy. Nor does the addition of 10,000 men to an existing army of less than 100,000 make an adequate force as a second line of defense.

The fight for preparedness was merely begun auspiciously at the last session of Congress. The little navy and little army men fought defensively every inch of the way. There is no evidence that they have surrendered to the majority sentiment of the country. Rather it is likely that they will renew the fight with even greater determination at the next session, asserting that more has been done in the way of preparedness than was actually warranted.

It behooves the advocates of real preparedness to gird their loins and make ready for the fight that will be resumed at the short session of Congress. It will take redouble efforts on the part of those desiring adequate armaments in the United States both on land and on sea to secure what is really needed at the short session, when many of the pacifists will be emboldened by the fact that they have been defeated for re-election and have nothing more to lose.

NOTES and COMMENT

The shipbuilding boom is here to stay, and when we say "here" we mean right in Alameda county.

Mr. Gompers says that American labor steered Mexico. Let's see, when was it that Mexico was steered?

The cold snap did some damage to the rice crop, but proved beneficial to unharvested spuds. Illustrating again that saw about the ill wind.

Jo. Snyder will be the host of a goose stew at Oroville. A goose stew is a good way to forget it, and is timely in being fixed after the election.

"Withdrawal Date Debated." Heading of an article relating to our army in Mexico. If no other evidence was forthcoming that the election is over,
this would be enough.

Recruiting is coming on by leaps and bounds. Three sets of twins enlisted in San Francisco in one day.
This talk about disinclination to join the army must be a mistake.

Editor Rowell is of the idea that California is not very resentful, after all, toward whatever influence it was that shaped the election result.

The secretary of the Retail Grocers' Association blames President Wilson and Harris Weinstock for 6-cent bread. That fixes the secretary's politics. He can be neither a Democrat nor a Progressive.

The Adamson wage law, as would appear, is not likely to be effective in keeping the peace between railway hands and their employers; but it served its political purpose. It could not be expected to do everything.

There is a certain relief over the announcement that scientists are going to investigate that amazing well at Tulare that spouts eyeless fish. The stories were becoming a great strain, and science is timely in stepping in.

A good many do not like it, but very few have that extreme feeling that the Rev. von Clafenbeck of Tillamook manifested. He "resigned" his citizenship because Wilson was re-elected President of the United States.

There are signs that efforts are being made to drag forth two boxers
—the Japanese menace and the railway strike. There are so many real things happening that it seems very unnecessary to conjure up untoward things that may happen.

Talk about perverse luck—the hunter with 467 ducks in his automobile, which developed a punctured tire, causing a halt so that an officer became wise and made an arrest, which eventuated in 160 days in jail and $500 fine—that hunter knows something about that kind of luck.

The Goldfield Tribune thus discusses the woman vote: "In the meanwhile the women who have the vote, let it be said to their everlasting praise and glory, are not going to be herded to themselves by self-appointed bosses of their own sex and offered, en masse, to the 'highest and best bidding.'"

The practical joker infests Berkeley, as well as other places. A dwelling ransacked. After the police had worried over it the information was vouchsafed that the ransacking was done as a practical joke. In what respect does the practical joke differ from charity? Isn't it because it covers a multitude of offenses instead of sins?

This rule of the Interstate Commerce Commission, that railroad agents must pay fare when they travel makes it all different. Incidentally they must much chagrined that the person who can show the slightest official connection with the road can ride free, the minister of the gospel can ride for half-fare, while the financiers, who furnish the sineews, must pony up.

The following, from the Colusa Sun, besides giving a new idea as to the recent election, has the first direct news that Macduff was a hen:
"There were two memorable characters in the recent conflict that seemed to say: 'Peace, Be Still.' The nation owes them a vote of thanks for not stirring the boiling pots of discord.
When the cry of 'Lay on, Macduff,
and damned be he that first cries, Hold, enough!' was heard through the ranks, the vice-presidential nominees, Marshall and Macduff, marshaled away toward peace, and, following Macduff, the hen that was going to lay the golden egg."

SPIRIT OF THE STATE PRESS

An Arbuckle despatch states a farmer has received about $30,000 for 12,000 sacks of wheat. This may be "going some" but we recently saw a check for 3000 sacks of beans that nearly reached that mark and it was only a part of the bean farmer's crop.—Rio Vista News.

The person or persons who broke into the cottage of the Lowry sisters above Mission San Jose and carried away a number of articles, are requested to please return the coin silver butter knife, as it is valued as a keepsake. They are welcome to the other articles taken, and no questions will be asked if the knife is returned.—Township Register.

With assured success in its case a manufacturing enterprise at Modesto, the Milk Products Corporation of Delaware is installing a milk supply station at Crow's Landing, the product from which will practically double the present output of the Modesto plant.
Skim milk from more than 1000 cows has been contracted for and this number will soon be increased to 1500.
The curd from the brand station will be brought to Modesto by auto truck for final processing.—Modesto News.

Newton Kerr made an election bet and lost. Monday at 1 o'clock he rolled a peanut from D street to Men-dochino avenue with a toothpick.
A large crowd gathered to watch the bet fulfilled. No end of amusement was caused by this operation. The question was asked afterwards, "Did he get to eat the peanut?"—Santa Rosa Republican.

THE NEW DIME

One impression conveyed by the new dime, fresh from the haunts of the Money Devil, is that of a picture in a shadow box. In order that he might bring out the face of Liberty, the artist has sunk the obverse side of the coin bowlwise and the inden-tation at the edge is deep, though graceful. The concave surface gives play to lights and shadows while the dime is new. Hold it one way and Miss Liberty, darkly beautiful, swims in a silver sea. Hold it another way and her face shines brightly from the surface of a shadowed pool.

The wear on the coin will not be on the cheek of Liberty, as it was in the old design, but on the edge of her cap, which is more like a motoring helmet than the former fashion in headresses for this important lady. The cap covers her ears, and the wings on it suggest that she is in sympathy with the modern pace.

She is a fine looking girl; not the cold Roman lady of the previous coinage, but a person who might have come from Vassar. Her neck is more slender than that of the old girl and her chin is fine and strong, but not thick. It is easy to see where her nose departs from her brow. It is a nice little nose, even if it does lack the tilt of magazine cover noses. The mouth is small and human, without the grim lips of other Liberties.
The secret of this new Liberty's beauty is youth. She seems to be 22, whereas the elder Liberties appeared to be at least 32 and conscious of their age.—New York Sun.

CURING LEPROSY.

Some weeks ago the Courant mentioned that a Cuban had asserted that he had discovered a cure for leprosy and had so far impressed the Havana authorities that a commission of physicians had been appointed to investigate the matter. It now appears a leper no farther away than Pennsylvania is so much improved in health that he has been released from quarantine.

It is asserted that while bacilli are found in nodules on his face, his blood shows no trace of them or of the disease, and the authorities of Wilkesbarre, which have been keeping him and his family in quarantine at an expense of $3000 a year, have put an end to the outlay by removing the quarantine. It may be supposed that the man, Joseph Norman, will not be altogether popular at social gatherings for some time to come,
but it is significant that his condition has so far improved that he is permitted to be at large.—Hartford Courant.

TOOK A WOMAN TO FIND IT.

The pursuit of that mysterious quality known as "the psychological moment" has been the pastime for ages of fortune seekers, weavers, stock market operators and politicians. Many have pursued but few have found the elusive will-o'-the-wisp.

And now a woman has made a capture.
Monday she informed the Surgeon-General that she was unable to support herself and her infant on an income of $25,000 and was unable to support an increase to $50,000 a year. Tuesday, when the Surgeon-General opened his newspaper, he saw that she had jumped to $12 a ton, potatoes to $2 a bushel, eggs to seventy-five cents a dozen, and that even stocks in Wall street had gone out of the reach of the very poor who have only $25,000 a year!

Any woman who has the ability to seize a "psychological moment" so effectively as this one ought to win the desired increase in less time than it requires to take a straw vote in a falling election.—

MANNHEIM, COMMERCIAL CENTER

"Mannheim, the great commercial city of the upper Rhine valley, which French aviators are reported to have raided recently, is famous as the 'chess-board municipality of Germany' because of the precision with which it is laid out in 136 squares of equal size," says a war geography bulletin which the National Geographic Society issues from Washington.

"With a population of 200,000 of its own and 90,000 in the town of Ludwigshafen, just across the river, Mannheim is not only the chief emporium for all south Germany, handling vast quantities of coal,
petroleum, cereals, tobacco, sugar, coffee and timber, but it is also a great manufacturing center, with plants, iron foundries, electric machinery, automobile factories. At the head of important navigation of the Rhine, it is not only the leading city of the upper river, but is surpassed by Cologne alone on the lower Rhine.

"The rapid growth of the shipping interests of the city necessitated a vast expansion of the harbor during the last quarter of a century. The new dock, quays and warehouses, constructed at the mouth of the Neckar, which enters the Rhine at this point, cover nearly 250 acres.

"The most striking building in Mannheim is the famous grand ducal palace, the largest of its kind in the German empire. Besides the apartment of the Grand Duke of Baden, into whose possession the city passed in 1802, the palace contains several interesting art collections. The original building was erected during the first quarter of the eighteenth century, was considerably enlarged a quarter of a century later, and the left wing restored following its destruction by the bombardment of 1795, when the Austrians captured the town after it had been held by the French for a year.

"The building covers two and a half acres as many acres as the national capitol at Washington, while the extensive palace gardens give to the city a park and recreation ground of great beauty. The promenade surrounding the town follows the line of the old fortifications, which were razed when the Grand Duke of Baden came into possession.

"While Mannheim only dates from 1606, when it was founded by the Elector Palatinate Frederick IV and chiefly peopled by Protestant refugees from Holland, it occupies the site of a village owned by the Abbey Lorsch in the eighth century, and only a short distance to the south stood the old castle of Elchezhelm.

Here Baldassarre Cossa, one of three churchmen who claimed to be pope at the same time, following his sensational trial by the council at Constance, during which, among other crimes, he was charged (but not proved guilty) of having poisoned his predecessor, Alexander V, Cossa exercised pontifical power under the title of John XXIII from 1410 to 1415. After he bought his way out of prison he was appointed a cardinal-bishop by Martin V, but died soon after in 1419.

"During the Thirty Years' War the struggling town of Mannheim suffered greatly, owing to the strength and strategic importance of the castle which had been erected by Frederick IV, and which was coveted by all contenders.

"The future of Mannheim was assured in 1720 when Elector Charles Philip transferred his residence from Hildesheim, ten miles to the east, to the ducal palace which he began to build in that year. The set-back which resulted from the transference of the court to Munich in 1778 was only temporary.

"Mannheim's 'Hof-Theater,' which was begun in the same year that our Declaration of Independence was signed, is famous as the playhouse in which Schiller's first works—"Robbers," "Pleasant" and "Cabal and Love"— were performed in association with Iffland, the noted Mannheim actor and poet.

"A tragedy which occurred in Mannheim in 1819 resulted in placing the universities in Germany under strict government supervision. This was the assassination of the noted dramatist, Kotzebue by Karl Ludwig Sand, a theological student and liberty enthusiast. Kotzebue, who had written 200 plays, many of which had enjoyed unprecedented success throughout Europe, had settled in Mannheim after he had been forced by his popularity to leave his native city of Weimar upon his return from St.
Petersburg in the capacity of a secret agent of the Russian government."

THE JESTER.

Military Modesty.

One of the latest stories in regard to the "gentleman ranker" in the British army is reported by the Tatler. An officer who superintended the receipt of a large and valued stock of stores felt the need of a clerk, and told the sergeant-major to hunt up one from among the men. The sergeant-major could not find a man who "pleaded guilty" to being a clerk, but he eventually singled out a sober looking private and took him before the officer.
"Are you a clerk?" demanded the captain.

"No, sir," replied the man.
"Do you know anything about figures?"
asked the captain sourly.

"I can do a bit," replied the man modestly.

"A bit!" snarled the officer. "Is this the best man you can find?" said he to the sergeant-major.

"Yes, sir," said that worthy.
"Well," growled the captain, "I suppose I'll have to put up with him!"

Turning to the private he snapped,
"What were you in civilian life?"
"Professor of mathematics at College, sir!" was the reply.—Los Angeles Times.

Nothing Like Variety.
"What sort of speech shall I make here?" asked the spellbinder.

"Know any good stories?" asked the local chairman.
"A few."
"Tell some of the best ones you know."
The last speaker we had dealt entirely in statistics. What the voters want just now is a little diversion.—Birmingham Age-Herald.

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

A crowd gathered at the Taylor bunkers at the foot of Franklin street this afternoon to witness a high dive by Professor Raymoun, who had advertised that he would break the world's record by diving from the Taylor bunkers, a distance

A thousand years from now, I ween, Mysterious wonders shall be born,
The maids of twenty-nine sixteen
May dress a la "September Morn."

The Martians, too, may "do Broadway"
A brilliant galaxy of stars;
And aeroplanes, hired by the day,
Will show the sign, "A Trip to Mars."

I'd love to hear the argument

FRICKSTAD
LOSS OF JOB

Former Employee in the Street Department Preparing to File Suit to Obtain Position Back; Charter Provision Is Quoted

Civil Service Board Never Did Pass on Case, He Declares, Therefore His Removal Held
to Be Illegal, Court to Decide

Walter N. Frickstad, former assistant superintendent of streets, who was removed from office by Commissioner W. J. Bacaus, supported by the majority of the Council, will take his fight for reinstatement into the courts, with the firm belief that he will come out victorious.

Holding that he was not discharged "for cause" and that the position has not been abolished by determination of the Civil Service Board, Frickstad maintains that he is entitled to continuance in office and for his salary since the order for his removal was made by Commissioner Bacaus.

Frickstad is out of the city at present, but he expects to be home by the end of the week, when he will prepare his case for presentation in the Superior Court.

The civil service board feels that it has no jurisdiction to hear his appeal from the order of removal for the reason that the board has not, as provided for in the city charter, found the position formerly held by Frickstad unnecessary.

Under section 19 of the city charter it is provided, in part, "that persons employed by the city and persons employed in the city engineer's office on September 1, 1910, may retain their employment under the city charter, subject to classification and reclassification by the civil service board without further examination, unless removed for cause, or unless it shall be determined by the civil service board that their employment by the city is unnecessary."

Accordingly, so far as the civil service board is concerned, there is nothing before it, the position still being maintained.

The controversy therefore is between Frickstad and Commissioner Bacaus and the City Council over the subject of his discharge, with the merits of the action at stake. This will have to be threshed out in court if it is to be settled.

At the time of his removal Frickstad charged that certain contractors doing business with the street department had determined to "get his job."

Commissioner Bacaus said that his removal was for the interest of "harmonizing" the department.

Never Tell Your Age to Anyone

Some people still persist in calling attention to their age by wearing two pairs of glasses, one for reading and one for distance, when with the newly patented "Caltech" bifocals only one pair is necessary. Both corrections are ground in a single lens, thereby eliminating the annoyance of constantly changing glasses. The "Caltech" bifocals have the appearance of regular glasses and do not call attention to the fact that you have reached that age where two pairs of glasses are a necessity. Remember "Caltech" bifocals—they are the only perfect double vision glasses and are ground only at the three establishments of the California Optical Company, 1221 Broadway, Oakland; 121 Post St. and 2508 Mission St., San Francisco—Adv.

MILLS COLLEGE GIRLS WILL GAIN GRACE FROM BOWLINGNew Clubhouse of Educational Institution Has Many Innovations

Grace attained through the ancient and accepted sport of bowling is the latest wrinkle at Mills College. Of late the women of the Oakland institution have forsaken the usual volleyball, tennis or gymnasium sports for the game just introduced. The bowling alley is in the new clubhouse, given the girls of the college by Peres Coleman, a graduate.

Beside the bowling alley the clubhouse has a dance hall, kitchen, dining-room and reading-room. Dances given by classes or members of Mills' student body will be given hereafter in the clubhouse, as well as the receptions of ordinary significance.

The new clubhouse has been opened only one week, but many of the novices are working hard to become adepts before the interclass games, due later in the season. The students who have bowled before the advent of the college alley found it little or no difficulty in swinging the eight-pound balls into the gathering of pins at the other end of the smooth strip of flooring.

Among other young women interested in the game are included Miss Marjorie Dinsmore, Miss Stella Leviaton, Miss Priscilla Morris, Helen Colgin, June Young and Nancy Purchas.

COLD WAVE IN STATE IS PASSING ON

Another Cold Night Tonight Is Predicted, However; Frosts in Valleys Reported to Have Damaged the Crops Slightly

California is slowly emerging from the cold wave which has gripped it for several days. Weather Bureau advices today indicated. Another cold night, however, is predicted before conditions return to normal.

Slight frosts were reported in some sections of Southern California this morning, while killing frosts were reported in the Sacramento, San Joaquin and Santa Clara valleys. In all of the cases, however, the temperature was warmer than the minimum of the preceding twenty-four hours.

Rice men are rejoicing, as they declare the cold weather has materially aided them in harvesting their crop, which is the largest in California's history. Olive growers report that frost-bitten olives are not a total manufacture.

Murder Case Begun

Preliminary examination in the case of Charles Manning, charged with the murder of Stephen Coppi, an Emeryville man, last August, is under way today, and evidence is being taken before Justice of the Peace J. G. Quinn. Attorney George McDonough is representing the defendant, while Deputy District Attorney William B. Smith has the prosecution. Testimony of Dr. O. D. Ehlert, who conducted the post mortem examination on the body of Coppi, was to the effect that the victim had died following a gunshot wound in the heart. Paul Brognoni, an acquaintance of Manning, also testified. Coppi was murdered during the night in his home, and it was not until some time later that Manning was captured and held for the crime.

Los Angeles Election
Officials Must Explain

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 15.—One precinct in Los Angeles was thrown out today by the board of supervisors in their checking preliminary to the official canvass because its tally sheet showed three more votes than were recorded in the registration books. This precinct was destroyed with 125 votes for Hughes and 122 for Wilson, the remainder being scattered. Errors such as this and the striking out of fourteen tallies for prohibition elections on a tally sheet caused seventeen election officials to be summoned to explain their work.

Twenty-one Cars Entered in Race, Which Experts Predict Will Be Fastest Ever Staged
in U. S.; Grand Prix Saturday

RACE COURSE, SANTA MONICA, Nov. 15.—Twenty-one racing cars, primed for the fastest road race ever staged in America, were undergoing their final tuning up today preparatory to the Vanderbilt race here tomorrow.

All eyes were turned on the "big three"—Resta, Aitken and Rickenbacher—the trio who are leading in the race for the motor speed championship of America. Drivers appeared on the course for the last time today. Durio Resta, champion of England, nursed his French Peugeot around the eight-mile triangle with an ease and quiet that stamped him a "gentle driver," while Eddie Rickenbacher, thundered his Duesenberg around the triangle for the fastest time ever made here, taking the famous "death curve" at a speed that appeared utterly reckless.

Of the entire field Resta is the favorite. Rickenbacher and Aitken are also big favorites, while Pullen (Mercer) and Cooper (Stutz) are considered likely dark horses.

Managers of the races are preparing for 150,000 spectators for each of the big events. The 254-mile Vanderbilt is set to start at noon tomorrow and the 400-mile Grand Prix at 11 a. m. Saturday.

Angel Island Officers to Face Courtmartial

Two sergeants in the quartermaster's depot at Fort McDowell, Angel Island, will probably face court martial proceedings because of alleged illegal sale of junk and old clothing said to be government property. The men accused are said to be Sergeant Davis P. Reed and Sergeant Sperling, the latter an officer of the line temporarily attached to the quartermaster's department.

A military court has been assembled by Brigadier General William L. Shert and sittings will be carried on as soon as witnesses reach the bay district from foreign posts. Sergeant Omer G. Paquet, McDowell, is on his way home to give testimony, while Captain George E. Pond, Ninth Infantry, on the border, but in the past quartermaster at Angel Island, will be ordered here at once.

Minister's $75 Salary Grounds for Divorce

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 15.—The slender stipend vouchsafed to clergymen in the country was brought into judicial notice this morning when Rev. Axel V. Dahl, a minister of the Lutheran church, divorced his wife, Anna Dahl, 466 Belvedere. No provision for her support on the part of her husband, who earns, she testified, but $75 a month, was made the ground for Mrs. Dahl's complaint and she was given a decree by Judge J. J. Van Nostrand. At the same time the court ordered Rev. Dahl to pay $25 a month.

Mrs. Dahl explained that her son, aged 19, had obtained employment and with his aid she had been enabled to look out for the needs of herself and three children.

Ford's Son and Bride in West
To Live Simply, Say
Two Heirs of Great Wealth

PASADENA, Nov. 15.—Eldsel Ford, son of Henry Ford, multi-millionaire automobile manufacturer of Detroit, and his bride, the former Miss Eleanor Clay, are on their honeymoon here, registered at the Hotel Maryland. Together they are visiting the interesting points in Southern California, and there is little evidence of the vast wealth represented by the name of Ford in their mode of living.

Eldsel Ford and his bride are devotees of the simple life. They decided to live like plain Americans before they were married, and they will continue to do so, according to Mrs. Ford.

The young bride apparently does not like to be interviewed, although she answers all questions as pleasantly as possible. She does not seem to realize why she should arouse so much interest, and all the Ford millions, which will some day be at her disposal, do not mean as much to her as her happiness and that of her young husband.

She is slender and tiny and a little wistful, and her hair is like flax in the deeper shadows of her eyes are the blue that comes with the early dawn. She was dressed in a simple little gown of white, and her hair was pinned up in a simple little bun. She was wearing a diamond ring and the shiny new wedding ring marked the jewels that she might have worn had she wished. "I don't exactly remember when I first met Mr. Ford," she said. "I guess it was at some minor social affair long ago. I just remember I had my hair down my back, as I must have been a girl. It was five years ago at the least."

"How long did the courtship last?" was the next question, and in spite of the questioner's best efforts, it sounded somewhat brazen. But Mrs. Ford only smiled. "It must be five years or more," she said. "To live very simply," she said, when asked about her social plans.

Simply? With wealth untold? With power to live in splendor? And it was evident that here was a girl who was not the type of life as it should be, and that the girl who twisted uneasily on the piano seat was trying, not to live up to power that already thrust itself across her threshold, but was, rather dumbly, seeking the perfection of life in its even tenor.

Mrs. Ford, before her wedding, had not been introduced into society. She lived at the home of her late uncle, J. L. Hudson, millionaire merchant of Detroit. She attended a dancing school last winter, where young Ford was also a pupil and her devoted admirer.

Ford is the only son of Henry Ford. He is an enthusiastic motorist, already in the business saddle, an expert because he went from the smoke of the forge to an important place in the great business itself. He is quiet, unassuming and looks on men as his friends.

Capitalist to Appeal
in Mining Deal Suit

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 15.—Albert E. Tower, New York capitalist, now residing in Sonoma county, who brought suit against the estate of the late John C. Wilson, stockbroker, to recover $150,000 lost in a mining deal has decided to appeal from the verdict of the local superior court which went against him. Today a bill of exceptions was filed with Superior Judge, Seawell, who in February, 1915, gave judgment for the estate in the sum of $32,700, which it is claimed Tower owed Wilson at the time of his death.

Tower became interested in mining property here and claims that the deal was misrepresented to him. He sued to recover the money he had put in the project and refused to pay the balance. The court held that he should be compelled to pay the money due and gave judgment to the defendants.

Idaho Will Probe
Alleged Voting Fraud

BOISE, Idaho, Nov. 15.—Instructions to all of the county prosecuting attorneys of Idaho to probe the widespread frauds perpetrated at last week's elections were issued Tuesday by Attorney General J. H. Peters, who in an official letter called their attention to the enormous vote polled and to the general abuse of swearing in voters on election day.

In several counties, it has already been ascertained, the tally of votes cast greatly exceeds the number of ballots actually used. Grand jury investigations are authorized by the attorney general.

Supplies were first aroused by the increase in Idaho's total vote from 107,000 in 1914 to about 150,000 this year, though the population has not been greatly increased.

TEACHERS TO FIGHT HIGH LIVING COST

Oakland Association Calls on 756 Members to Join in Big Effort to Hold Down Price of Foodstuffs; Probe Is Sought

Resolutions Adopted Describe Situation and Point Out the Remedy to Rectify Affairs; Campaign Now Under Way

Calling upon all fraternal union bodies to join in the campaign seeking to obtain a reduction in the present high cost of living, the Oakland Teachers' Association, an organization of 756 members, has adopted resolutions seeking federal and state investigation into the cause of present prices of foodstuffs.

The teachers, as being closely identified with the conditions in homes as presented by the pupils in their charge, set forth that hundreds of families are now obliged to subsist on $200 a year, and that present conditions are a national problem in becoming matter.

W. A. Tenney, principal of the Vocational high school, has been appointed chairman of a committee of the association to investigate the situation and to call upon other organizations throughout the city and state to solicit co-operation in the campaign.

The resolutions adopted at the meeting of the teachers' association describing the situation and pointing out a way or remedy is as follows:

Resolved, That we, the members of the Oakland Teachers' Association, do hereby earnestly protest against the abnormal increase in the price of foodstuffs, which is a menace to life and comfort.

Resolved, That we, teachers of the children of Oakland, feel a keen interest in the physical as well as the mental and moral development of our pupils, and where we know that many hundreds of our children's fathers must support families on less than $200 a year, the duty becomes imperative to us to inquire into the cause of the increased cost of living, the reason for no legitimate control of prices other than supply and demand, and we fail to understand how that economic principle can be responsible for the present increase in the cost of foodstuffs.

Resolved, That we therefore petition the President of the United States, the President of California, and the Mayor of Oakland to investigate the said increase in prices and to make use of such methods as are in their hands to restore the said prices to their normal conditions.

Resolved, That we request all fraternal organizations, including the various labor unions and benevolent societies to join in this petition for the reduction of the cost of foodstuffs.

Resolved, That copies of these resolutions be sent to the President of the United States, the President of California, the Mayor of Oakland and our daily papers.

GRADE CROSSINGS PROTECTION URGED

Railway Commissioners Would Standardize Danger Signals

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—Standardization of grade crossing protection is sought in a movement approved by the National Association of Railway Commissioners now in annual convention here. The increase in the cost of living, it is declared, makes ineffective old methods of guarding crossings. In its report, a special committee said:

Complete separation of grades is the most desirable solution of the grade crossing problem, but it is impossible to eliminate them at once, and it is desirable to provide the most adequate protection of those that exist.

The committee recommended a number of recommendations for public service commissions, among them being that warning signs be placed at a distance of not less than 300 feet from railroad tracks, and that the signs be lighted at night, the lights to be red.

Jackson to Survey Bars and Restaurants

A rigid scrutiny into the status of restaurants with bars and state enforcement of the law regarding the sale of liquor to minors was ordered this morning by Commissioner of Public Health and Safety P. F. Jackson. His instructions to Police Walter J. Peterson were as follows:

I desire that you make a thorough investigation of the restaurants with bars in this city and ascertain and report to me those which are not bona fide restaurants.

NO DEDICATION: CITY PAYS $200

Pierre Provensal "Holds Out" on Baccus and Sells Sewer Right of Way.

Because Pierre Provensal of 2003 Hopkins street refused to allow the city to lay a sewer across a thirty-five by forty-foot piece of property at the foot of Sheffield avenue unless he is paid a lump sum for the street work, the city council this morning ordered the payment of $200 in return for the "dedication" of the land.

"This is nothing short of highway robbery," said Commissioner W. J. Baccus, as he brought the matter to the attention of the council. "But the report of Health Officer Kirby Smith shows that the completion of the sewer is essential to the health of the district, there is nothing we can do but force him to deliver. The street work will not amount to that sum, and it is a hold-up."

"Can we not start condemnation proceedings, or open the street by resolution?" asked Commissioner W. H. Edwards.

"That will take too long," replied Assistant City Attorney W. H. O'Brien. "Since the health officer reports that the construction of the sewer at once is imperative, the legal proceedings are inadvisable."

The property purchases will be used as a portion of the upper end of Twenty-fifth avenue along the east side of the central reservoir of the Peoples Water Company to Hopkins street.

Germans Deport 2,000 Unemployed Belgians

THE HAGUE, Netherlands, Nov. 15.—About 2000 unemployed in the Belgian city of Ghent have been deported to Germany for work in munition factories, according to news from the frontier. A compulsory registration of unemployed took place a few days since, and the labor bureau is now compiling a list of the unemployed. Former employees of various engineering works at Ghent who gave no heed to the call, were seized in their homes at night by German soldiers and thrown into prison. It is alleged that other instances of the imposition of forced labor have recently occurred also at Bruges, Eekloo, near Ghent, and other places. The Belgian government is determined, so far as possible, to utilize the considerable available supply of Belgian labor to make good the ever-increasing military drain on its own manpower.

Mayor Ralph May Be Candidate for Governor

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 15.—That Mayor John R. Brown will be a candidate for governor at the expiration of the term of Lieutenant-Governor Stevens, who will step into Governor Johnson's shoes, is practically a certainty, according to City Hall circles. Those close to the mayor, when asked pointedly regarding his prospective candidacy, reply in metaphorical language that the mayor's "greatest wish" is to "get into the governor's shoes."

So far Mayor Ralph has not spoken for himself. He has not tossed his hat into the ring, but it is believed that he will hold the hats of Charles M. Fickert and Joseph Scott when the proper time comes for formal announcements. Scott is a candidate for the position of mayor, and Fickert is a candidate for the position of mayor.

Ten Men Race Death and Win

Fire Envelopes Film Plant

CHICAGO, Nov. 15.—Ten men ran a race with death and won, when a fire attacked the film room of the Laemmle Film Exchange here early today. The men reached the street of an instant before an explosion rent the four-story building. One million feet of movie film was destroyed.

The men were warned by Edward Gehring, 21, who delayed his escape to shout a warning to the men in the film room. He was severely burned.

Meodore Luskis, night elevator operator at the plant, was the fourth floor when the fire started. He ran his car down through the flames to safety. The damage was placed at $150,000.

DAVIE ANSWERS BREED LETTER

Attacks Long Term Leases and Hands Senator Tart Rejoinder.

Declaring that Senator A. H. Breed, in his attitude regarding the Oakland waterfront leases, is in the position of the man who should not throw stones because of possible damage to his own crystalline combs, Mayor John L. Davies addresses today to the citizens of Oakland another open letter in which he replies to the Senator's arguments. In the course of his remarks the Mayor pays his compliments to speculators who have acquired term leases of city lands with no intention of improving them. His communication is as follows:

In a public communication Senator A. H. Breed, who holds a lease from the City of Oakland, has criticized my attack on former leases given by the city for practically no consideration. The only argument set forth by this leaseholder who secured his holding for 25c a foot per annum, is that under my administration a lease has been granted to the Albers Bros. Milling Company for small money payments.

NO COMPARISON.

It is not quite clear why Senator Breed should offer a chance for such a lease. He holds a fifty-year lease, of which he possesses one year, and he is likened to the Albers Brothers lease because they have in common one condition of small payments. Why, it is practically the same. The Mayor's lease with the Declaration of Independence because they were both written on paper?

Senator Breed's lease is a large manufacturing concern, with a payroll. Their lease represents city land given to manufacturers and prosperity and not a speculative holding of mud holes in the city. The same one will come along and pay well for them.

My policy is, as it always has been, to secure a lease, but for speculation, and no consideration, as the magnificent sum of 25c a foot which the honorable senator pays.

The Albers Bros. Co. is transferring all its distilling business to Oakland from Seattle, Portland, San Diego, Los Angeles and San Francisco. This is an establishing of which many manufacturing and commercial center would be proud.

In addition to the small payments the entire plant reverts to the city at the expiration of the lease term of twenty-five years. On the other hand the holdings championed by Senator Breed were given in 1911 for a song and for no definite purpose save speculation. The holders of the old leases pay the city $5 to $10 a year and sublet portions of their holdings for $100 a month.

THE IRON WORKS.

A good comparison, Senator Breed's holdings is found directly across the channel on the Alameda side. The Union Iron Works, located in Alameda, is paying $7 a foot for its plant. The city's best piece of land not located on the Oakland side as Senator Breed and other speculators hold the land and pay the city of Oakland $5 a foot for it.

The city of Oakland should ever stand ready to donate land if necessary for such constructive purposes as the Union Iron Works, located in Alameda, is paying $7 a foot for its plant. The city's best piece of land not located on the Oakland side as Senator Breed and other speculators hold the land and pay the city of Oakland $5 a foot for it.

AGNEW IS CAPTAIN, QUESTION ARISES

Appointment Not Presented to the Civil Service Board.

Acting Captain of Inspectors Lou F. Agnew was appointed Captain of Police this afternoon by Commissioner F. F. Jackson. The appointment is in effect tomorrow. Captain Agnew has been holding the position of acting captain of inspectors for some time and this confirms his position.

There may arise a difficulty over the appointment with the Civil Service Board inasmuch as the board says that the appointment has not been presented to them according to Section 27 of the Civil Service Law. Agnew's name is not on the eligible list.

Chief of Police Walter J. Peterson declares that the appointment will hold temporarily pending a civil service examination. Under those conditions Agnew can retain his duly appointed position for eight months.

CAMPUS TO HAIL CALIFORNIA TEAM TOMORROW NIGHT

Bonfire and Smoker Planned at U. C. to Herald "Big Game."

BERKELEY, Nov. 15.—A final send-off before the Washington game will be given the California varsity tomorrow night in Harmon Gymnasium, when a varied program of songs, stunts and talks will be staged.

Professor J. H. Hildebrand will speak as the faculty representative. Head Coach Smith will announce the line-up. Boxing bouts are carded and the usual bonfire gathering will be held on the west field following the smoker. Preparation for the fire is in the hands of the freshman class.

If Washington arrives per schedule they will be in Berkeley at 6 o'clock tomorrow night and the rooters will bid them welcome upon their arrival. They will be guests at Harmon Gymnasium in the evening.

Friday evening the Big C will loom up on the Berkeley hills and will be closely guarded by the committee in charge, assisted by the freshmen men students.

Another important event of the week-end is the alumni banquet to be held Friday evening in San Francisco and the football dance to be given Friday evening in Harmon Gymnasium.

The California team has taken it comparatively easy this week, as both Coach Smith and Trainer Volz decided they had been worked a little too hard and were commencing to break down the strains of the training season. They will be allowed a complete rest Friday and will probably be guests at a theater in the afternoon, retiring early Friday night and getting up in time to take a short walk in the hills.

Washington plans a light workout tomorrow evening after arriving and will be run about the field for a few moments Friday morning.

California has been practicing in secret for the past month and it is expected they will uncover some new formations when they open up Saturday. The ticket sale has been exceedingly large, according to the graduate managers' office, and more than 3000 were sold Monday to persons not attending the university. This is a larger number than was disposed of during the entire week previous.

A wireless outfit will report the game play by play to the cities within a radius of 300 miles distant, and California will be represented by a rooting section as large as appeared to cheer the Bruins and to root Stanford in the days of the Cardinal games.

WHAT EDDIE THINKS
Eddie Mahan, in view of the coming California-Washington game, has given out some interesting theories on the backfield of California's team. His specialty is backfield work and his statements regarding the second defense of the team is as follows:

The backfield of a university football eleven is composed of four men, each of whom excels in one style of backfield play. For example, the quarterback is chosen to call the signals and to choose the plays, because he is sharp-witted. He must possess the craft, strategy and sound judgment of a general. Often he is warned by his coaches to steer shy of plays in which he is liable to be injured, so that he may keep a cool, clear head. One of the other three backs must be a powerful line plunger. He is usually a heavy man with plenty of reserve power. Generally it falls to the lot of this back to be the first line of defense, thus he must be a good diagnostician and a good tackler. The remaining two men are usually picked for their speed in the backfield. One of these, at least, should be able to kick, run and pass. The more expert he is at all these duties the more valuable he will be to the defensive problem for opponents. Thus, to employ football terms, a backfield must have a quarterback, a line plunger, a kicker, a runner and a passer. All these qualities, and are equally adept in all departments of backfield play so much the better, but the backfield of this college gridiron, if ever graced a college gridiron.

The University of California backfield may be said to be well balanced. Gimbali or Hicks at quarterback are daily becoming more familiar with their position and with more experience should develop into a first-class general. Foster and Wells are two plugging backs who hit the line hard. Their chief weakness has been their defensive play, but both are rapidly bolstering up their faults in this department. Brooks and Sharp are more versatile than the other backs. Both men are capable of kicking, running and passing. In addition, Brooks is a line-bucker of mean ability. The substitutes for the backfield positions, while they have not developed so completely as the regulars, nevertheless are all men who have latent qualities liable to crop out in any game. The backs have just about reached the stage when they are beginning to show good signs of team work. In the few remaining days this feature will be developed to such a degree that the California backfield will be a formidable factor in the Washington game.

30 Years of Rheumatism Took S.S.S.—Now Well

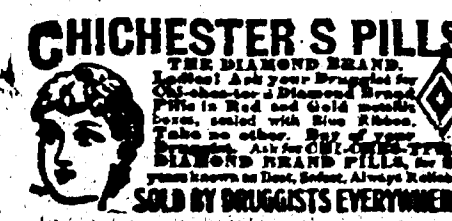

Thirty years a sufferer from Rheumatism without relief, then finding perfect health in S. S. S., is the experience of Mrs. Brame of Texas. Read her letter:

July 22, 1914.
Swift Specific Co., Atlanta, Ga.
I suffered with Rheumatism for about thirty years, and never found a cure till I took S. S. S. I am now in perfect health and no more nervous worry. I cannot say too much for what it did for me. It is the only blood tonic in my estimation. I will always recommend it to every sufferer. I am,

Mrs. Brame's case is typical of many others who have found S. S. S. the only relief from Rheumatism. Mrs. Brame's happy experience will be yours if you follow her advice and take S. S. S.

Not a Mystery.

There is nothing mysterious about this accomplishment. Mrs. Brame only needed a remedy that would drive out of the blood those impurities respon-

SOLD BY DRUGGISTS EVERYWHERE

G-r-r---Hear Bruin Growl

BERKELEY, Nov. 17.—Here is the fighting face of a fighting athlete, Fred Brooks.

Brooks is the dependable half back of the California Varsity which meets Dobie's Washington team on California field tomorrow. Brooks is also the kicker who will do the punting against Dobie's team and again Brooks is the line-plunger on whom the brunt of California's attack will fall. Then also Brooks has been responsible for more touch-downs this season than the rest of the backfield combined. Also Brooks does most of the forward passing and interference work.

In other words, he is the "iron man" of the California eleven. Sharp is considered the flash and fire of the team, but Brooks is looked upon as a consistent ground gainer.

Jenkins Is Thrown by Santell Twice

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 15.—Ad Santell, the comeback of the wrestling game at Dreamland rink last night, took the bulky southerner down in two straight falls.

The first fall went to Santell after 28 minutes and 47 seconds of work, a head and arm scissors and an arm hold sending Jenkins to the mat with both shoulders down. The second and decisive fall was registered in 2:43, and only came after Santell had been in jeopardy himself on one occasion.

In the preliminary, Babe Managol attempted to throw Charlie Korvora twice within half an hour. He failed to do so, and Korvora won Demon Dittmar referred the main event. There was a good attendance.

Chance Said to Have Named $50,000 As Price to Cubs

CHICAGO, Nov. 15.—Frank Chance, the Peerless Leader, may not be destined to settle down to the peaceful life of a California farmer after all. Rumors that a faction of Cub stockholders are trying to bump Tinker and put Chance in his place are bobbing up among the depositors.

The latest is that Chance has set his figure at $50,000 for managing the Cubs two seasons, about the figure he received from the New York Yankees. It is said several persons interested in the Cubs have dickered with Chance and have arranged so that the Peerless Leader could easily leave the Los Angeles Pacific Coast League club. The fact that Chance won the pennant as manager of that club is counted a factor in the alleged Cub offer. Chance is living on his orange ranch at Glendora, Cal.

TOKAY'S WIN AT TIJUANA SHOWS HE'S GOOD HORSE

Colt, Who Was a Sensation in 1914, Stages Sensational Come-Back Victory.

SAN DIEGO, Nov. 15.—Tokay, son of Marchmont 11 and Tokalon, Brooklyn handicap winner, bred in Texas and owned by J. W. Fuller, the Texas millionaire, and further driven by the Texas jockey, Van Dusen, sort of sprung a sensation in the running of the first handicap at Tijuana.

In the spring of 1914, Tokay was regarded as the likeliest looking colt in America. He swept everything before him and just when a coup of all the big eastern stakes was mapped for him he took ill and until this past summer in Kentucky didn't resemble a shadow of his former self. His sure came back like a champion last Sunday.

Tokay defeated the good mare, Fascinating, by a neck, but had Van Dusen tried harder there isn't a question in the mind of Turfmen that he could have won by a length and a neck had he wanted. He reeled off a mile in 1:32.5 and unless all signs fail should take a lot of beating down this way.

Tokay's owner, J. W. Fuller, owned many great horses in his day. He took Tokalon east and won a fortune when the mare annexed the rich, broodmare stake. Before that time he owned the great horse, George Arnold, which he killed on a train. Only a few days before that he had refused an offer of $25,000 for the horse. Fuller has 21 horses in his string here.

The opening was a great success. It brought followers of the game here, all the way from Saratoga and a number of special trains are on the way here now from the eastern tracks. President Cothran was deluged with telegrams of congratulation from some of the most renowned sportsmen in America.

On the sensations in the horse way came about with the running of the Wingfield colt, Square Set. It was his first time and he was a real winner, off five furlongs in 1:01.5 pulled up almost to a walk. Square Set is by the dam of Ormonde and gives every indication of developing to go a distance. He is entered in most of the rich Tijuana stakes.

Three boys, Nolan, Pickens and Stevens, have already felt the smart of the judges' decision. Nolan has been set down indefinitely for his rough ride with Little Jake in the opening sprint last Saturday. Nolan bumped horses, cut off one or two others and altogether did a lot of offending in his anxiety to win. He has been warned repeatedly by the stewards in the past and consequently suffered by the harsh ruling.

Pickens and Stevens are mild-mannered boys as a rule. This was their first offense and in consequence were let down with the $25 fine. Pickens offended while astride Synphon Boy. He cut off both Savonarra and Kosenway when they began to make their move. Stevens cut off Ray in the last race, while riding Boxy. Pickens and Stevens will be carded during the next weeks of racing. The eastern horse men will be into him and will be ready for lots of action from now on.

Lachmund to Be Card Leader in 1917?

FALO ALFO, Nov. 15.—Otto "Pretty" Lachmund, fleet-footed backfield wonder of the Stanford University rugby team, will probably captain the 1917 football team. Lachmund is a native of the Los Angeles area and has been a star in three previous big games and is very popular with his teammates, his election to the captaincy is most probable.

Joe Stecher Agrees to Meet Cutler

CHICAGO, Nov. 15.—Efforts to bring Joe Stecher here for a championship wrestling bout with Charley Cutler were apparently successful today when Cutler's manager announced Stecher had agreed to meet Cutler the latter part of this month. Stecher defeated Cutler in Omaha, July 4, 1915, and has not been in a hurry to go into a return match with Cutler.

JIMMY MARSHALL 116

WEDNESDAY NIGHT HANDICAP.

Should win easy. Too fast and pretty in open field. Too much class for his opponent.

FRANKIE JONES 148

No class and only another victim for Jones' marvelous cleverness. Will be a poor second. In too fast company.

"CYCLONE" WILLIAMS 154

SAN FRANCISCO AND OAKLAND STAKE EVENT.

A steady plodder, but may run against some wall in Ford. Can hit hard and is faster than North Beach boy and figures to have edge at the finish. Has aggressiveness and willingness to trade punches should earn him no less than a draw. A good thing at even money.

BATTLING VIEIRA 125

Has run well on transbay tracks and may outslug Vieira. Has defeated Malone and Pelsinger and never backs up. Should provide thrilling battle.

Gordon, the colored tackle of the Bruins, is proving himself one of the best linemen on the coast. He is a tower of strength both on the offensive and the defensive. It is the first time the University of California varsity has included a negro in its ranks, and proves that there is a lot of bunk in the talk that athletic preferment at U. C. is a question for the fraternities to decide.

Brooks and Sharpe are twin stars at California this year. Brooks is a great line plunger and a heady openfield runner. Sharpe has shown some of the cleverness and daring of a covering of the year. California looks to these two men to gain much yardage against Washington.

A Piano in Every Home

It Pays to Buy a Good Piano

Unreasonably low prices and cheap inducements should not influence the Piano buyer. As long as the buyer does not possess expert knowledge of piano making, his satisfaction lies in the recommendation by a REPUTABLE HOUSE—one which will not misrepresent and which does not carry "trash"—a HOUSE which tells the truth, and really believes in selling good pianos, pricing them consistently.

We carry all grades of Pianos from $250 upward—but only makes in which we have confidence and which we can recommend.

From $250 to $325—we carry several makes, such as the ALDRICH and STROUD, which are positively the best Pianos manufactured to sell at these prices—the lowest prices at which good, dependable new Pianos can be sold. If you do not care to expend $250, it is far better to buy a "used" or "second-hand" Piano of good make—we usually have good "used" instruments from $100 up.

From $350 to $450—we carry such makes as the KURTZMANN, ESTEY and KRAKAUER, which are held in high esteem in thousands of homes.

From $525 upward—we offer several famous makes of superior musical worth, including the A. B. CHASE and WEBER.

And, finally, the STEINWAY—the world Standard, by which all Pianos are judged—from $575 up. The purchase of a STEINWAY is the purchase of the BEST, and closes the avenue to future regret.

Moderate payment terms on any Piano, even the STEINWAY.

WIVES, IN CONCERT, PRAY FOR DIVORCE

Six File Suit Reciting the Cretaceous Practices Charged to Hubbies.

Carol Pollis alleges in a divorce complaint filed in the local courts today that, although she was married to Thomas Pollis little more than a year, he found occasion within that time to have her placed in an institution for the treatment of the insane. She declares that she consulted the head physician of the place and that he assured her that none but insane patients were treated there. Mrs. Pollis alleges that her husband struck her and was otherwise cruel to her.

Eleanor M. Sparks, 2571 Webster street, Berkeley, complains in her petition for a divorce that Mackay Jerome Sparks created a sensation at a party at the home of friends in Thousand Oaks by telling a woman he met there that his wife was in love with her husband. Mrs. Sparks avers that she became hysterical and broke up the party as a result.

Rapid fire customs of the Far West have encroached upon the traditions of the Far East in the case of Sadak Nakazawa, a Japanese woman, who filed suit against Joshi Nakazawa. She says that he beat her and kept her a prisoner in their home for several weeks, behaving very much as some Americans do, she complains, where customs are so different to American methods of retaliation.

A. P. Sherman complains in a suit against A. V. Sherman that his wife has the "ride habit" in that she is not happy unless she stays out all night on motor car parties at least two times each week. Other suits were filed today by Charlotte E. Ferner against Raymond H. Ferner, alleging desertion; Carrie M. Samuels against William J. Samuels, cruelty; Gladys R. Carr against Clarence G. Carr, neglect, and Frank H. Scott against Estella A. Scott, desertion.

Many Register for Extension Classes

University of California Extension classes in Oakland and San Francisco have rolled up a registration of 1800 in two months. Two new classes that are attracting members are in law for women, taught by Mrs. B. D. Pratt, a local attorney, and a civil service coaching class in shorthand speed. Mrs. Pratt's work is given largely for the home woman though many professional and business women are availing themselves of it. It deals with such matters as bills and notes, master and servant, income taxation, new laws of interest to housewives, pure food laws, and weights and measures. The California code is used as the text book and the women who compose the class are made possessors of some point of law at each meeting of the class which meets on Tuesday and Thursday nights at 8 o'clock in the senior room of the Hastings College of Law in the New City Hall.

The speed course in shorthand and typewriting is given by Mr. Neil Baldwin, office manager of the extension division main office in Berkeley, on Tuesday and Friday nights from 7 to 9 o'clock in the Lick building, 62 Post st., San Francisco.

"Intolerance" to Draw Big Crowds to Macdonough

Famous Film Production to Open in Oakland on Monday Night

The seat sale for the coming engagement of "Intolerance," which opens at the Macdonough theater on Monday night, is unusually brisk. Since the first announcement was made of the coming of this extraordinary spectacular success, which is the first and only production made by Mr. Griffith since "The Clansman," large numbers of mail orders have been coming in from every direction. Attention should be called to the fact that all seats will be reserved.

The scenes in "Intolerance" flash back and forth from Babylon to Judea and from Paris of the Middle Ages to a western American city. The modern story deals with the efforts of so-called uplifters who undertake to regulate the lives of the less fortunate and who in so doing become intolerant and narrow-minded. Similar scenes run through the production of other periods in the world's history. The most spectacular features of the entire production relate to the Fall of Babylon with mighty battle scenes which introduce all the ancient methods of warfare on an indescribably massive scale.

Amazing magnitude and even more amazing detail, a revolutionary method of presenting four stories almost simultaneously, and the most gigantic settings ever erected are but a few of the features that most impress the spectator.

Patrons are urged to make early reservations to avoid standing in line just before the performances and perhaps missing some of the impressive opening scenes. Matinees at 2:10 and evening performances at 8:10 sharp.

BASIS OF MEXICAN AGREEMENT DRAWN

Joint Commission Tells Certain Progress Is Being Made.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Nov. 15.—Despite indications of obstructed progress on the Mexican side, the American members of the joint peace commission here believed today there is still a chance of reaching a border agreement involving General Pershing's withdrawal.

While the apparent obstruction annoyed the American group perceptibly, one of its members said:

"The foundation has been laid for a structure which we have excellent reason to trust will take the form of an agreement. And, while we have come to something concrete, it is nothing more than tentative. There is now a situation wherein we come to the crisis which we trust will result in a unity of mind."

The Carranzista members had planned to send the tentative agreement to Carranza by messenger for ratification, while the Americans expected to submit the proposals to the Washington government by telegraph.

Whether the eleventh hour opposition of the Mexican side will thwart the expected agreement was impossible of prediction today. But the Americans indicated that there will be little dallying from now on.

In addition to the military agreement, the Americans hope for action most favorable to American investors, such as the big mining interests.

Bandit Robs Train; Passenger to Depot

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 15.—As the Missouri Pacific's Omaha-Lincoln express train, No. 105, was leaving Leavenworth, Kan., for Kansas City, a masked robber entered the rear sleeping coach, leveled a pistol at the four male passengers and the conductor, C. E. Schmitt, and obtained $56. Eighty dollars of this was taken from the conductor. The bandit then informed his victims that they might resume their seats. "I'll ride a ways with you," he said.

At intervals, as one of the passengers would shift his position, the pistol in the robber's hand would shift to cover him. When the train pulled into the Kansas City station the man wished his victims a laughing "good night," left the coach by the rear platform and disappeared through the dark maze of tracks and cars.

ATTEMPTS SUICIDE.
Despondent because payments on her home were delinquent and she feared that she might lose the place, Mrs. Sadie Helm, 1934 Fifteenth avenue, attempted suicide early this morning by swallowing lyso. Prompt treatment by Dr. Joseph Hamilton of the Melrose emergency hospital counteracted the effects of the poison.

Fred Werner Dies at Home in Livermore

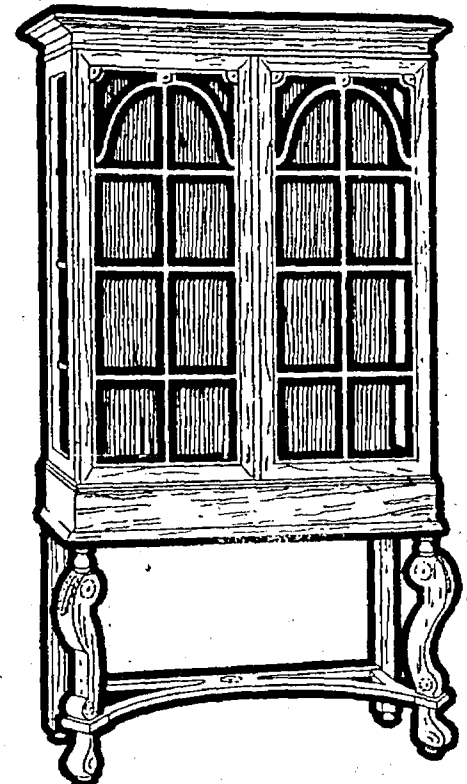

LIVERMORE, Nov. 15.—After an illness of but two days, Fred Werner died at his home here last night. Werner was known to his friends as "Fritz." He was born in Germany in 1851 and came to this country in 1881. Mrs. Henry Twilman and Henry Werner, Jr., are son and daughter. Funeral services are to be held tomorrow morning in L. O. O. F. hall. Werner was a member of the local chapter of Hermann's Sons.

Liquor Men Seek to Halt Abuses

At a meeting of the Retail Liquor Dealers of Oakland held yesterday, a committee was appointed to investigate certain abuses which, it claimed, have aroused considerable antagonism, and to recommend such further restrictions and regulations as may be deemed advisable. The committee will make a complete survey of the situation and ask the cooperation of the constituted authorities in the elimination of objectionable features.

Anonymous Letter Is Ignored at Stanford

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Nov. 15.—Stanford students working for the organization of a hospital corps unit to serve in the American ambulance and field hospital work in France today ignored an anonymous letter from San Francisco threatening to "report all of the members to Germany," and protesting against the corps helping wounded soldiers of the allied armies. The letter is considered a joke.
